PREFACE.

A modern Universal Exposition well might be called an encyclopedia of society, as it contains, in highly specialized array, society's word and works. It is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, brought together for the inspection of the world---for examination and study by its experts. It constitutes a compact, classified, indexed compendium, available for ready reference, of the achievements and ideas of society, in all phases of its activities, extended to the most material as well as the most refined.

The Catalogue of such a Universal Exposition is, therefore, perhaps the most comprehensive and representative contemporary record of the progress and condition of the human race that may be devised. It is a distinct and authentic record of the exhibits of the Exposition, which are the evidences of the capacity and performance in all lines, intellectual, social, and industrial, of all of the peoples of the world. The value of such a document and its significance, socially and commercially are incalculable. It is an epitome of the capacity and promises of mankind, while being at the same time a roll of honor---a certified register of those individuals and institutions which are taking active part in the life of the world today.

FREDERICK J. V. SKIFF,

DIRECTOR OF EXHIBITS.

INTRODUCTION.

By Howard J. Rogers, Chief.

The Palace of Education and Social Economy is situated in the center of the main picture of the Exposition, and is one of the two buildings surrounded by the grand basin and the lagoons. The design is of modern classic architecture, and its graceful lines and magnificent colonnade render it, in the opinion of experts, the most beautiful building on the grounds. It is designed by Eames & Young of St. Louis, and cost about $400,000. The building is irregular in shape to conform with the ground plan of the Exposition, and somewhat resembles a keystone. The northern facade is 750 feet in length, and the southern 450 feet; the east and west sides are 525 feet long. The whole building covers 290,000 square feet, or approximately 7 acres of ground.

The sculpture which adorns the building is notable, and was designed by Robert P. Brinlhurst of St. Louis. The principal figures are "The Flight of Time" and "The Thread of Life," which stand on the right and left, respectively, of the figures surmounting the four main entrances; the famous statue of Horace Mann at the west portal, was designed by H. K. Bush-Brown; and of Pestalozzi at the north portal, by A. Jaegers.

In the arrangement of exhibits within the Palace, the court, which was roofed after the building was finished, owing to the greater demand for exhibit space, plays an important part. The foreign exhibits and the exhibits of the American universities are situated within the court. In the the north corridor of the building are the exhibits of the public school systems of states and cities. In the west corridor are the exhibits of the agricultural and mechanical colleges, professional and technical schools, art schools, business and commercial schools, and business houses. In the east corridor are the exhibits of schools for defectives.

The Public School section contains exhibits from the kindergarten through the elementary and high school grades, including evening schools, vacation schools and schools for special training, high schools, academies, commercial schools and manual training high schools. These exhibits represent: School legislation and organization, School architecture, Courses of study, Methods of instruction, The training of teachers, School apparatus and appliances. These are illustrated by reports, charts, photographs of buildings and schools, models, bound volumes of class exercises, and apparatus designed and made by school children, etc.

The college section, including colleges and universities, scientific and technical schools, professional schools, libraries and museums, contains models of buildings, special scientific apparatus, physical and chemical laboratories, models and photographs of astronomical apparatus, reports on original investigations, text books and original contributions by professors and students.

Special education in the Fine Arts is fully illustrated by large and comprehensive exhibits made by five of the largest art schools in the country.

Perhaps the most important display is that collected in the section devoted to the colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts of the United States. For this purpose the government appropriated $100,000. These institutions throughout the country have made an elaborate collective exhibit illustrating their methods of instruction and results of research. The exhibit includes on the agricultural side: Agronomy, or plant production; Zootechny, or animal industry; Agrotechny, or agricultural technology. The Mechanic Arts exhibit includes: Civil engineering, Mechanical engineering, Electrical engineering, Mining engineering, Technical chemistry, Architecture, Drawing and Shop practice, Domestic science and Ceramics.

Special education in Commerce and Industry is illustrated in the exhibit of the various industrial and commercial schools and the higher schools of commerce. The southwest pavilion contains a model commercial school, with all its equipment, in actual operation.

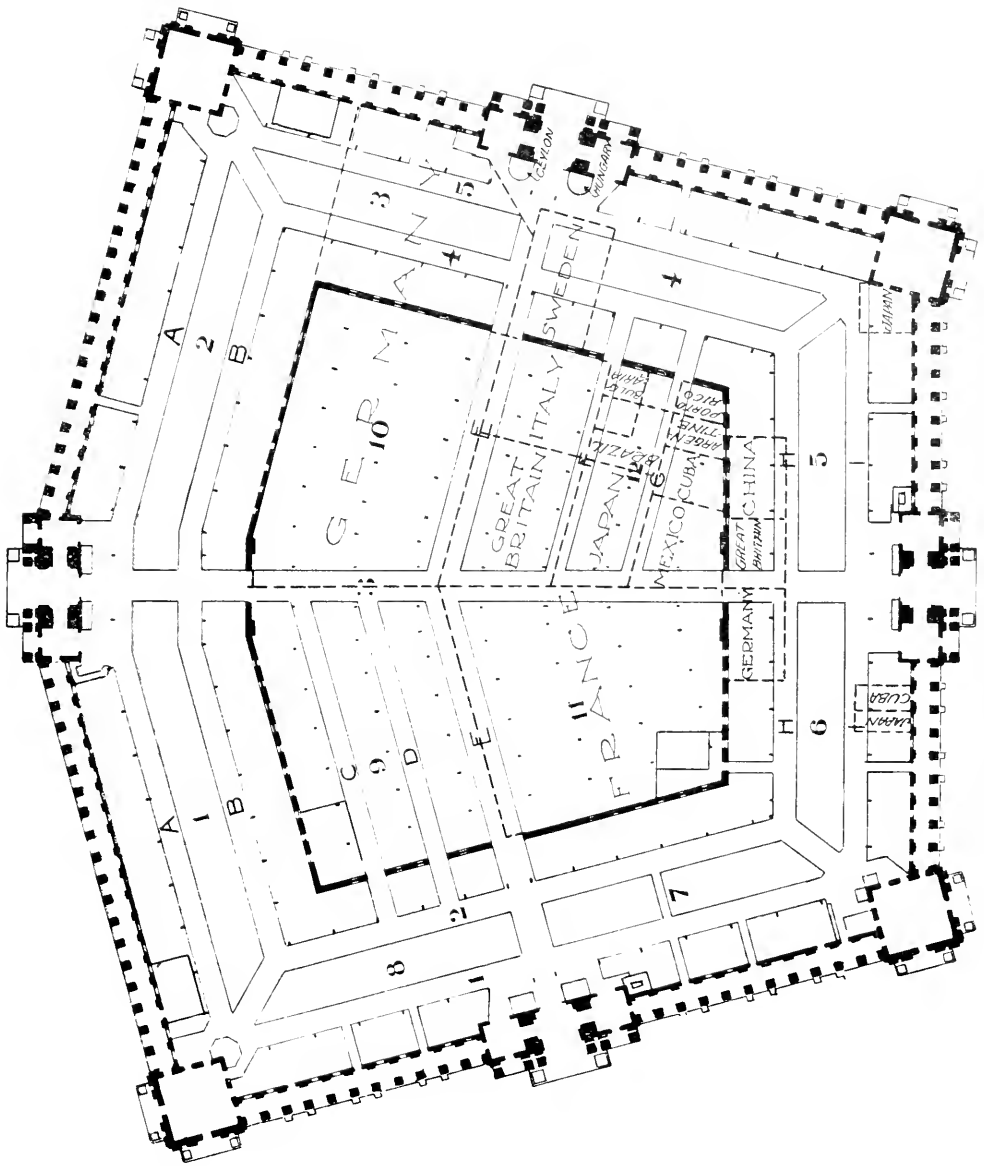

Model schools with working classes showing the methods pursued in the education of the deaf and blind are conducted daily in school rooms specially constructed for the purpose.

Publishers and manufacturers of school furniture and appliances have made elaborate displays.

The Foreign section contains an exhaustive exhibit of their educational facilities and equipment of the leading nations of the world. The exhibit of scientific apparatus and the results shown of modern scientific investigations are very comprehensive.

GROUND PLAN PALACE OF EDUCATION.

How To Locate An Exhibit.

The Educational Exhibits are installed in the north, east and west sections of the Educational Palace. Individual Exhibits in the elementary education are to be found in blocks 1 and 2, aisles A and B. Group 2 will be found in blocks 1, 2 and 3; Group 3, in blocks 7 and 9; Group 4, in block 7; Group 6 is chiefly installed in block 7; Group 7 is to be found in block 4; Group 8 is installed in different parts of the blocks mentioned; Group 5, the Exhibit of Colleges of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts, is to be found in block 8. Over each block is a large sign which will immediately give the location of the block, with the designation by aisles. In addition, each exhibit may be easily and definitely located, just as you would locate a house on the street.

The Art Palace.

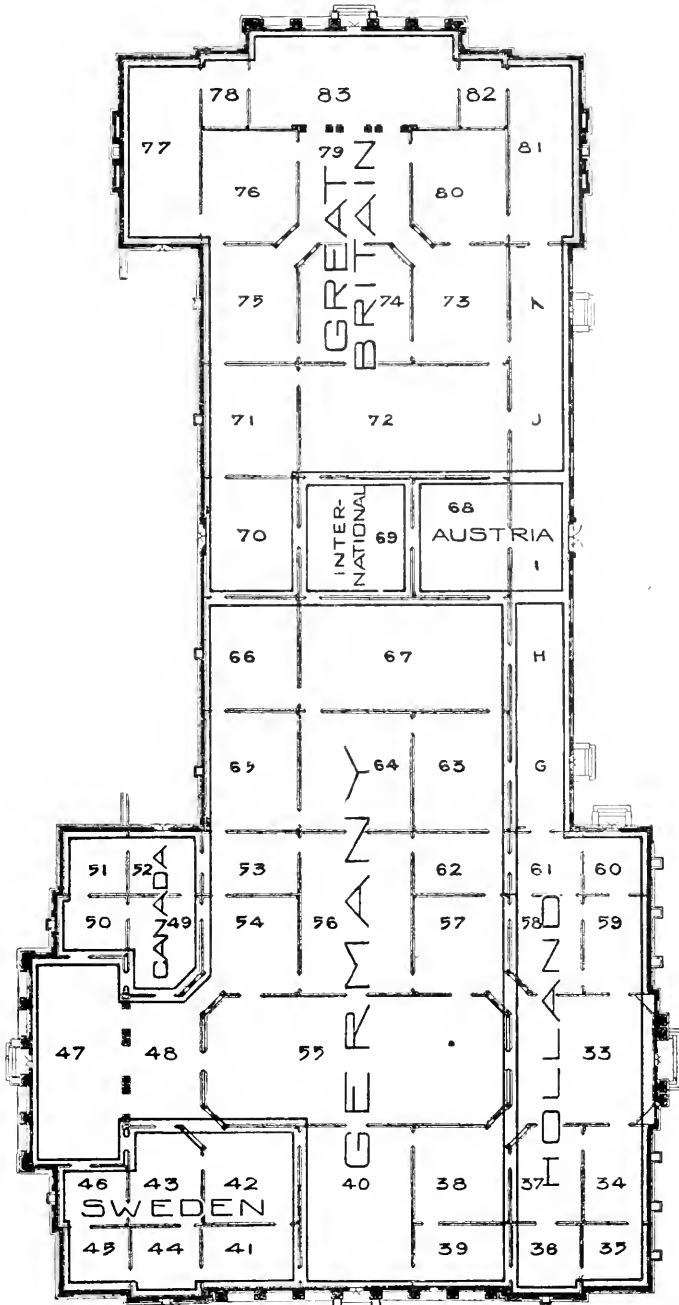

Classic in the simplicity of its architecture, the Art Palace strikes a strong and dignified note in the Exposition. It comprises four massive buildings, known as the Central Building, the East and West Pavilions, and the International Sculpture Court. The Central Building, of gray limestone and brick, is to remain on the ground, a lasting memorial of the Exposition, and a permanent Art Museum for the City of St. Louis. In composition it is a tall nave, fronted by a Corinthian portico, above which appears the large lunette which, repeated elsewhere, gives abundant light for the interior. On each side of the main entrance are seated figures, one representing Sculpture, executed by Daniel Chester French, and the other representing Painting and executed by Louis Saint Gaudens. Above the main portico are six figures symbolizing the six great periods of art, as follows: Egyptian Art, by Albert Yaegers; Classic Art, by F. E. Elwell; Gothic Art, by John Gelert; Oriental Art, by Henry Linder; Renaissance Art, by Carl Tefft; Modern Art, by C. F. Hanann. The figure, "Inspiration," crowning the building, above the main entrance, is executed by Andrew O'Connor. Two bronze griffins, which are effectively used as ornamentations on either end of the main pediment at its base, are executed by A. Phimister Proctor. Near each end of the front of the Central Building, in niches, are two seated figures, representing "Truth," by Chas. Grafly, and "Nature," by Philip Martiny. The last five named figures are gilded, a golden note which is repeated at intervals on all the structures and decorations of Art Hill.

In the frieze of the main building are placed twenty medallions in stone, containing portraits of the great architects, painters and sculptors. These have been executed by George T. Brewster and O. Piccirilli. The intermediate figures surrounding the base of the building are replicas from the antique. The East and the West Pavilions, giving, with the Central Building, a total length on the front of eight hundred and thirty feet, and extending back four hundred and fifty feet, enclose a Quadrangle in which is located the fourth building of the group, the International Sculpture Court, which is built, as are the East and West Pavilions, of brick ornamented with staff. This court is one hundred and fifty feet long by one hundred feet wide, its plan being rectangular with an exedra or semi-circular bay at the east and west ends. In architecture it is lighter and more decorative than the main buildings, with motives from the Italian Renaissance. The enclosed space is laid out as a garden, where fountains, growing plants and shrubbery are introduced with charming effect. Here is suggested, beside the close relation between the allied arts of sculpture and architecture, the relation of art to nature.

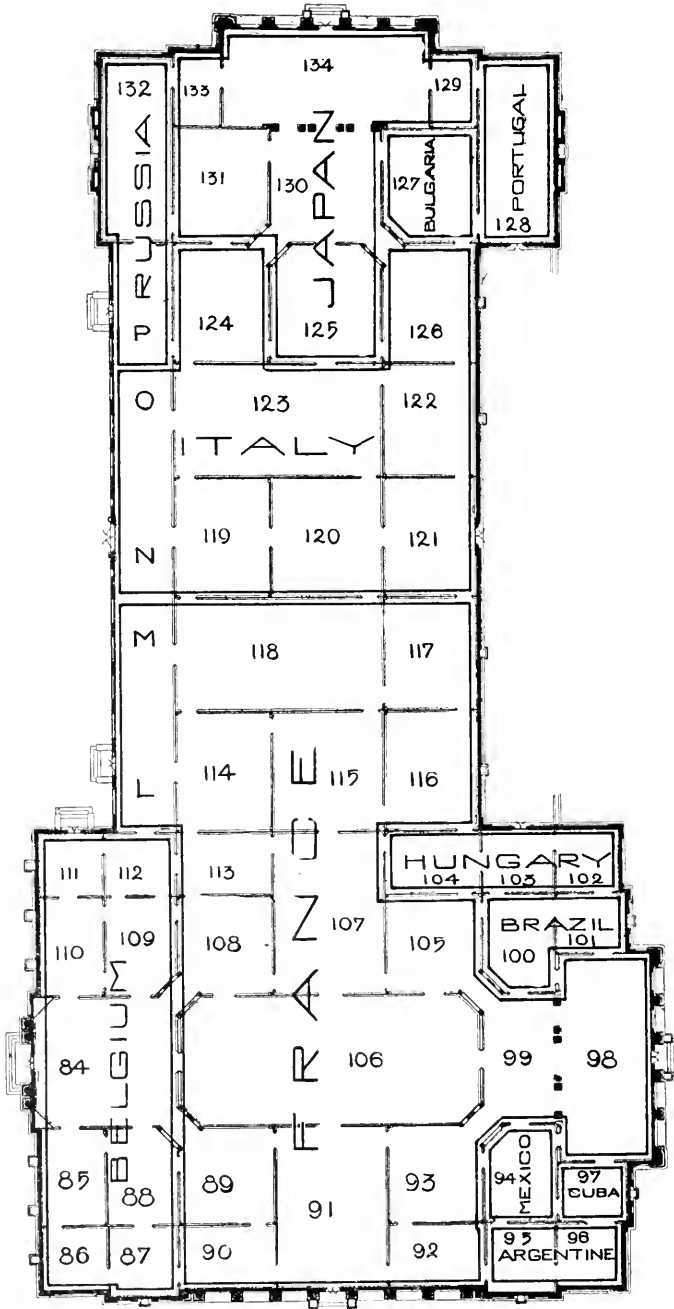

The arrangement of the Art Palace differs from previous expositions, in that all the exhibits are installed on the ground floor. The entire United States exhibit is installed in the Central Building, and the foreign exhibits in the East and West Pavilions, with the exception of sculpture, which is found in the Sculpture Court. The bringing together of foreign sculpture in this building affords an opportunity for close comparison of the various schools. The Central Pavilion is entered from the north; the East and the West Pavilions are entered from the Main Pavilion and also from the north. The outer entrance to the Sculpture Court is from the south. The Art Palace is located near the center of the Exposition, on Art Hill, ninety feet above the level of the grounds. It is directly in the rear of Festival Hall and the Colonnade of States, and is within easy reach by paths gradually ascending the hill, or by the flight of steps leading up from the Grand Basin to Festival Hall. There is also a general station on the Intramural Railway in the rear of the building. The architect of the Main Buildings of the Art Palace is Cass Gilbert of New York, and the Sculpture Pavilion is designed by Emmanuel L. Masqueray.

FOREWORD.

The Art Exhibition of the Universal Exposition of 1904 both maintains and advances the high standard of previous expositions. The generous response of foreign countries to the invitation extended and the loyalty of American artists, have contributed to form a collection which is representative of contemporary art. The art of the Exposition as a whole is not only modern but recent. Several sections are composed entirely of works which have been produced since the Chicago Exposition of 1893. Here is the latest word from the studios. It is when this rule of the selection of works of contemporaneous art is followed, that the history of art becomes consecutive and is vividly told in the modern exposition-story.

In recognition of the historical significance of the Exposition, there is added, in the United States section, to contemporaneous art, a retrospective division which includes works produced between 1803, the date of the Louisiana Purchase, and 1893. In this division are also classed the works of artists who lived within this period whose works have influenced the development of the art of the past century. There is also in the United States Section a loan division composed of foreign masterpieces from public or private collections owned in this country.

Among the works installed in the galleries devoted to the Loan Collection are examples by artists whose influence has been felt by art workers in every country—among them Rembrandt, Franz Hals, Rousseau, Constable, Turner, Diaz, Corot, Gerard Dou, and Gainsborough.

The exhibit of paintings in the United States Section demonstrates again the fact made plain at the Paris Exposition, and cordially acknowledged there, that we have a distinctive national art, so individual that it can be mistaken for no other. American art, like American literature, is eclectic; but when from the technique of the foreign school the artist comes home for his subject, his interpretation and his atmosphere, we have the American picture. This exhibition is most comprehensive, including American artists living abroad, as well as an equal representation from the different sections of this country.

Figure painting in oil and water color, and in the recent notable revival of miniature art, exhibits the strongest and best traits of modern art, with the refinement which is so pronounced a characteristic of American work. The works of American portrait painters, including those of international reputation, are prominent in the exhibition; and beside reaching the highest standard of modern portrait art, recall the earlier traditions of American portraiture. Mural painting cannot, from its very nature, be adequately displayed in an exhibition, but what is here exhibited in sketches, studies and photographic reproductions of finished works, emphasizes the fact that we have, under the strong impulse of civic improvement, entered upon a distinct period of mural decoration. Our school of landscape art is here in full force. The works of the most prominent American sculptors will be found, not only in the galleries, but in the Exposition grounds. American architects, engravers and illustrators are fully represented.

The Art Department has here adopted a broader classification than has prevailed at previous expositions. For the first time at an international exposition in this country Applied Art has been placed on a plane with what is known as the "Fine Arts." A similar attempt was made at the Chicago Exposition to put applied art in its rightful place, but the art worker failed to fully recognize his opportunity, and the response was comparatively meager. During the 90's the Arts and Crafts movement, developing strongly in England, in certain sections of the continent, and in the United States, has made for itself a distinct and permanent place in the world of art. Here, for the first time in an exposition catalogue the initials "A. & C."—Arts and Crafts—appear, and the work for which they stand greatly broadens and diversifies the interest of the collections. The Arts and Crafts movement is a protest against the monotony of machine-made things; it is a recogtion of the dignity of hand work, of the individuality of the worker and of the value of artistic feeling and knowledge, in whatever medium expressed. The art-craftsman works in the spirit of the old guild and the master-workman, with the added touch of keen modern thought. Never before in our country have the applied arts, which are closely related to every-day life, made such a showing as is here made. Exhibits in glass, earthenware, metal, leather, wood and textiles as well as examples of artistic bookbinding, are placed in side-lighted galleries, specially adapted for their showing, and constitute a most attractive feature of the exhibition.

Numerous entries in the Division of Applied Art attest the interest which has been aroused by this new departure. And when it is remembered that the same high standard of selection was observed here as in other departments, it is evident that much good work in the Arts and Crafts is being done in the United States. The exhibit is effectively installed in cases, thus making an impression which could not be made if it were scattered throughout the galleries as bric-a-brac, as has been its fate in previous expositions. The characteristics of American applied art, as shown here, are originality of design, good workmanship, and a daring use of new material, as in the use of semi-precious stones in jewelry.

The exhibition of the British Section is representative of the art work of Great Britain, Scotland and Ireland during the last decade, the collection being equal or superior to that made at Chicago, and not surpassed by any collection of art works ever sent from English shores. The Art Committee, made up of the presidents of the various art societies of the United Kingdom, gives assurance that the exhibition is national in its scope—an assurance fully confirmed by the list of artists' names. The best known names in English art—including the three great painters, Millais, Leighton and Burne-Jones, who have died during the last decade—with others of world-wide reputation, are represented here. In sculpture, owing to difficulty of transportation, no attempt has been made to exhibit monumental works. A careful selection, however, of smaller works shows the best spirit of modern sculpture. The exhibit of applied arts is a most generous response to the new recognition given in this Exposition to this work. In three galleries, specially decorated for the purpose, is an exhibit showing the influence of such artists as William Morris and Walter Crane—the largest exhibition of its kind which England has made at any exposition.

The present collection is the largest and most important one that the French nation has ever sent out of its own country, and is most comprehensive in scope, showing the great versatility of the present day painting of France. Among works in the French Section representing the older masters of that school are those of Carolus Duran, Bouguereau, Henner, Detaille, Flameng, Puvis de Chavannes, Robert Fleury, and Lhermitte. The younger men—the coming masters—in painting and in sculpture are fully represented by works showing the best characteristics of French art. A large exhibit of the applied arts shows the results of generations of trained artist-artisans.

In the Holland section a more complete idea of the art of that country may be gained than has been possible in any former Universal Exposition, either in the United States or in Europe, outside of their own country. The collection is made up of oil paintings, water colors, etchings and engravings, with such works of sculpture as can be installed in the picture galleries, all by Holland's representative artists. Prominent on the walls are the works of Israels, Jacob and Willem Maris, Mesdag, and Blommers, masters of the school which has made Holland famous. In applied art is shown work in pottery, wood, silver, and copper.

Art in Austria is thoroughly organized in four great national societies, so distinct from each other that their individuality has been observed in the grouping of the pictures on the walls, and also in the catalogue. Beside the exhibits of the two Austrian societies, including such artists as Hugo Charlemont, Alois Schram and Karl Pippich, there are those of the Bohemian and Polish artists, each displaying distinctive national traits. Owing to the lack of space which it was possible to assign to Austria, only a portion of these collections is placed in the Art Palace, the remainder being installed in their National Pavilion.

In the German Section a larger and more comprehensive exhibit has been made than at any previous exposition in this country. Lenbach, lately deceased, Germany's most famous portrait painter, is represented by five notable portraits. Adolf von Menzel, Paul Meyerheim, the historical painter von Werner, Franz von Defregger, Ludwig Knaus, Leibl, Loefftz, Schuster-Waldau, Keller, Langhammer, with many others, make this collection representative of modern German art. Noted historical paintings are lent from the public galleries of Germany. The sculptors Reinhold Begas, Peter Breuer, A. Bruett, Heinrich Epler, Ernst Freese, E. Hundrieser, Erich Hoesel and many others contribute to a large sculptural exhibit, which includes many figures of heroic size.

In the Hungarian Section are exhibited works of the foremost artists of their national school. While the list does not include all the most noted names in Hungarian art, those who are here maintain the high national standard. Munkacsy, whose pictures are known throughout the world, and some of whose greatest paintings are owned in the United States, is here represented by typical scenes from Hungarian peasant life. L. Paál, one of Hungary's best landscape artists, and K. Lotz, portrait painter and noted fresco artist, are among the well known names. Many of the painters are of the newer generation of Hungarian artists, and the collection bears evidence of a high standard of selection.

The exhibit in the Belgian Section represents the art activity of the last decade, all the paintings having been produced during that time. In the sculpture, which is installed both in the Art Palace, and the galleries of the Sculpture Pavilion, a representative exhibit is made. Frans Courtens, Leempoels, Heymans, Verhaert, and Gilsoul are among the noted names in Belgian art, and are represented here by important works in figure and landscape.

The paintings in the Bulgarian Section are characterized by strong and sympathetic interpretation of the national life. Among the noted artists here represented are A. Mitoff and J. V. Mrkvitchka; with a sculpture exhibit comprising statues, busts, and bronze medallions.

It is entirely modern art which is shown in the Italian section, most of the painting and sculptures having been produced since the Chicago Exposition. The late decision of the Italian Government to participate prevented the execution of works specially for this Exposition; but the oldest and largest of the art societies of Italy, the International Art Association in Rome, has most earnestly and successfully promoted this exhibition. The spirit of modern Italian art is individual; all working together for the development of a national art. Besides the work of contemporary artists, important works are shown by older artists who have had a strong influence on modern Italian art. Among the noted names in this exhibition are G. Previati, A. Rizzi, A. Dall'Oca Bianca and C. Laurenti.

The exhibit of Portugal is installed in one gallery, painting and sculpture being grouped together. Among the more prominent artists of Portugal are Salgado and Columbano, represented here mainly by portraits, and Jose de Brito.

Japan comes to this Exposition with an exhibit displaying in cloisonné, art lacquer, enamels, sculpture and painting the well-known characteristics of Japanese art. There are shown noted examples of the old school of landscape art, the traditions of which are the glory of Japan. The foremost bronze casters of the country are here represented by masterpieces. The sculptural exhibit in ivory, wood and terra cotta, shows groups and figures illustrative of scenes in Japanese life. There are also oil paintings done by younger artists in the European method. The leaders in the school of landscape art which is so pronounced a feature of this exhibition are Gaho Hashimoto, Kwampo Araki, Keinen Imao, and Giokusho Kawabata.

The impression made by the Swedish pictures at the Chicago Exposition is repeated here. Nowhere is art more patriotic than in Sweden and nowhere has a stronger effort been made to develop a national art, and to induce the return of the artist to his native soil. Since 1880 these efforts have been successful, and have resulted in the development of an art which has a vital connection with the life and civilization of the country. In architecture and sculpture is seen also this same strong showing of race-traits. Among the artists in this exhibition best known in this country are Zorn, Liljefors, and Carl Larsson.

Russia is represented by a collection of over six hundred works of art, consisting mainly of paintings which illustrate fully the present tendencies of the art of that country. Ten different art societies are represented, the works being hung in their collective capacity, showing a certain individual trend in the case of each society which is well worthy the attention of the student. Included in the collection are the paintings of such well-known members of the Imperial Academy of Arts as Repin, Vladimir and Alexander Makofsky, Dubofsky, Kasatkine, Volkoff, Soukherofsky, Kosheleff, Venig, Verestchagin (now deceased), Maimon, and von Liebhart. Besides the work of the artists here named there are independent collections illustrative of "Ancient Russia," "The Ural and its Riches" and "Siberia," which have never before been displayed outside of Russia. As a whole, the display emphasizes the historical and social aspects of Russian life and possesses uncommon interest.

The works of art exhibited in the Argentine Section place this South American republic among the nations which cultivate art with dignity and profit. Painters and sculptors who have studied in France and Italy have returned home to create an art which impresses one with its individuality, sense of harmony and purity of style. Among the artists whose works are represented in this notable collection are Eduardo Sivori, Ernesto de la Carcova, Eduardo Schiaffino, Pio Collivadino, Carlos Ripamonte, Cesareo de Quiros, Correa Morales, Irurtia, Dresco, Alonso, Artigue, Giudici, Garcia and Diana Dampf.

The exhibits in the Brazilian Galleries are mostly paintings, and both in landscape and in figure portray the life and atmosphere of the country. Owing to the late decision of the Brazilian Government to participate in the Exposition a number of her best known artists do not appear in this exhibition. Among the artists represented are Aurelio de Figueiredo, B. Calixto, P. Weingartner, M. Brocos, in etchings, and others of equal note. The art interests of Brazil are fostered by a School of Fine Arts, which offers scholarships, sending her artists to European art centers for study, while at home she also maintains schools of arts and trades. An interesting exhibit of applied art in this section is composed of original designs and pottery by E. Visconti.

Mexico has an exhibit of paintings which in figure and landscape gives glimpses of the life of the country, the most notable feature of the exhibit being the collection of paintings by Antonio Fabres.

Cuba, which for the first time exhibits as a nation at an international exposition, shows a collection of oil paintings, engravings and lithographs. Prominent in the collection are the works of Aurelio Melero and Leopoldo Romanach.

Art in Canada is of comparatively recent growth, and the present exhibition is under the direction of the Royal Canadian Academy, the organization which holds together the art-interests of the country. The works in the Canadian galleries are entirely pictorial, and are the work of Canadian artists who have studied in the art centers of Europe, and return home to paint. Many of them have exhibited at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, where they won honorable mention.

The International Section is made up from the works of artists of countries not officially represented by national commissions or committees. Among them are works by Norwegian, Danish, Peruvian and Swiss artists, and an exhibit from Ceylon and China of paintings and works of applied art.

The Executive of the Department of Art desires to acknowledge its indebtedness to the Society of Arts and Crafts of Boston, the Atlan Ceramic Club of Chicago, and the National Society of Mineral Painters, for their valuable assistance in collecting the many articles forming the display of the applied arts in the United States Section, and also desires to express its grateful appreciation of the services rendered by the St. Louis Museum of Fine Arts, the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, the John Herren Art Institute of Indianapolis, the Cincinnati Museum Association, the Chicago Art Institute, the National Academy of Design, the National Arts Club of New York, and many other societies and individuals throughout the country.

PREFACE

A modern Universal Exposition well might be called an encyclopedia of society, as it contains, in highly specialized array, society's words and works. It is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, brought together for the inspection of the world—for examination and study by its experts. It constitutes a compact, classified, indexed compendium, available for ready reference, of the achievements and ideas of society, in all phases of its activities, extending to the most material as well as to the most refined.

The Catalogue of such a Universal Exposition is, therefore, perhaps the most comprehensive and representative contemporary record of the progress and condition of the human race that may be devised. It is a succinct authentic record of the exhibits of the Exposition, which are the evidences of the capacity and performance in all lines, intellectual, social and industrial, of all the peoples of the world. The value of such a document, and its significance socially and commercially, are incalculable. It is an epitome of the capacity and promise of mankind; while being at the same time a roll of honor—a certified register of those individuals and institutions which are taking active part in the life of the world to-day.

PALACE OF LIBERAL ARTS.

INTRODUCTION.

INSTALLATION OF EXHIBITS, DEPARTMENT OF LIBERAL ARTS

By JOHN A. OCKERSON, Chief of Department.

The Palace of Liberal Arts is located near the eastern extremity of the grounds, one side fronting on the Plaza of Orleans, and the other on the Sunken Garden. It is 525 feet wide and 750 feet long, and the entire interior is devoted to exhibits.

The long axis of the building stands at an angle of about 45 degrees with the meridian, but as a matter of convenience, the end nearest to the Administration Building is designated as the west end and the side facing the Cascades as the south side. The points of the compass given in the description below conforms to this notation.

The structure covers an area of about nine acres. Exterior loggias extend along two sides, and many groups of sculpture embellish the building in such a way as to make it unusually attractive. The dedication ceremonies, one year prior to the opening of the Exposition, were held in this building.

The general scheme for the installation of exhibits in the Palace of Liberal Arts provides for their arrangement, as far as practicable, in sections corresponding to the several groups of the classification. This applies particularly to the Domestic Section, which covers the northwestern portion of the building, a broad strip across the center and a section in the southeastern quarter.

Considerable space is occupied by exhibits from foreign countries, those represented being Germany, France, Great Britain, China, Italy, Mexico, Russia, Brazil, Austria, Egypt, Argentine, Portugal, Cuba, Ceylon, Spain, Sweden, Japan, Australia and Canada. The location of each of these is shown on the ground plan of the building on the opposite page. In the spaces allotted to the several foreign countries are placed all of the exhibits pertaining to them respectively, without attempting to bring the exhibits of the different countries belonging to the same class into the same section of the building.

With the exception of a small educational exhibit, practically the entire collective exhibit of the Chinese Empire is installed in the Palace of Liberal Arts.

A small portion of the exhibits of Germany and France herein installed pertain to other departments, but in general there is strict adherence to the official classification. On the other hand, many exhibits classified in this department may be found in nearly all the exhibit palaces.

The Domestic Graphic Arts Section, comprising printing, typography, engraving, book making, maps, cosmography and paper, is located near the west entrance of the north side of the building and covering several blocks eastward. Lying parallel to these along the north wall of the building are the road-making machinery, crushers, road-rollers, scrapers, dump-carts, sprinklers, and sundry other road appliances, and in the same tier of blocks farther east are water filter appliances and the exhibits of grain and stock scales.

Near the hemicycle of the south side of the building are exhibits of musical instruments and phonographs, while farther northward toward the center are instruments of precision, and adjoining them to the eastward, Block 54 is devoted to exhibits of models, plans and drawings of various engineering works.

The center of the building is marked by a huge model of the lighthouse which guides the mariner to the entrance of the Southwest Pass, one of the mouths of the Mississippi River.

Immediately north of the lighthouse are the blocks occupied by the exhibits of the American Society of Civil Engineers, with its maps, plans and models of engineering works, and the Western Gas Association, showing various appliances for the manufacture and distribution of gas. The block to the north of these is devoted to typewriter exhibits, and the block beyond, to scales and various calculating devices.

Along the south wall from the middle entrance eastward, is the display of photographic appliances and photographs, while northward of these are the exhibits of paints, chemicals, drugs, perfumery, soaps and kindred articles; and parallel to them, adjoining them to the northward, are the exhibits of surgical and dental appliances, apparatus and instruments, artificial limbs, hospital furniture and fixtures.

Any of these can be readily found by referring to the block number in the catalogue and looking for the corresponding number which is suspended directly over each block.

In the balcony there is a lecture room, provided with suitable apparatus, in which demonstrations and lectures are given in connection with experiments relating to compression, liquefaction and solidification of gases.

A space has been set aside, east of the building, on which is installed the machinery for liquefaction of gases, concrete block construction and other exhibits of a most interesting character.

A solar engine from Portugal, consisting of an arrangement of mirrors and lenses, has been installed on the hill west of the Forestry Building.

These outside exhibits are of more than ordinary importance, and deserve special consideration.

GROUND PLAN. PALACE OF LIBERAL ARTS

How to Locate an Exhibit.

The Palace of Liberal Arts is laid out in very regular squares, intersected by aisles. The blocks are numbered, and over each hangs a large sign indicating the number of the block beneath. The aisles are numbered and lettered. To locate an exhibit, find the block indicated in the entry; the aisle also will give the side of the block on which the exhibit is installed. In the case of foreign and state exhibits, only the block is given. The general location of foreign countries is also given in the ground plan.

- Class 100. Costumes; special materials; printing on different materials, armor; jewelry; foot-gear; dancing shoes; wigs, beards, making-up; paints for making-up.
- Class 101. Properties; reproduction of various phenomena, such as thunder, hail, wind, snow, gun-firing; card-board work of all kinds; furniture made in perspective.

GROUP 23.

CHEMICAL AND PHARMACEUTICAL ARTS.

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 102. Laboratory apparatus and utensils; enameled lamps, blow-pipes; presses, drying ovens, filters, electric furnaces.
- Class 103. Apparatus and instruments for making industrial and commercial analyses.

- Class 104. Equipment and processes used in the chemical treatment of animal substances, with their products; superphosphates, soaps, candles, glycerine.
- Class 105. Apparatus and processes for the production by electrolysis of hydrogen peroxide, chlorine, hypochlorites, chlorates, soda, bleaching materials, and various other chemicals.
- Class 106. Equipment and processes used in the manufacture of vegetable essences, varnishes, commercial rubber, substitutes for India rubber and articles of gutta percha.
- Class 107. Equipment and processes used in treating the mineral substances used for lighting, heating or lubrication; coal, shale, petroleum, ozocerite, etc.
- Class 108. Equipment and processes used in treating waste paper from factories (by chemical or electrical methods) with a view of permitting their return to water courses.
- Class 109. Equipment for charcoal works and the production of various derivatives; methylated spirit, acetone, acetic acid, tar.
- Class 110. Apparatus and processes for the compression and liquefaction of gas. Liquefied gases.
- Class 111. Apparatus and processes for the manufacture of artificial textiles.
- Class 112. Appliances and processes used in the manufacture of pharmaceutical products.
- Class 113. Acids, alkalis, salts of every kind. Sea salt and products of the treatment of the mother waters.
- Class 114. Refined sulphur and derivatives from sulphur.
- Class 115. Equipment and processes used, and products obtained in the manufacture of phosphorus and matches.
- Class 116. Hydrogen peroxide; ozone.
- Class 117. Various products of chemical industries; tanning materials, waxes, essential oils, glue and gelatine; perfumes and extracts; disinfectants, various glazes, printing ink, blacking.
- Class 118. Commercial India rubber; gutta percha.
- Class 119. Dye stuffs, paints, pigments, varnishes and fillers.
- Class 120. By-products obtained from the treatment of mineral substances used for lighting, heating and lubrication. Refined petroleum and paraffine.
- Class 121. Products of charcoal burning.
- Class 122. Alcohols modified for industrial purposes.
- Class 123. Equipment and appliances for producing calcium carbide, and for the liberation and use of acetylene gas.
- Class 124. Artificial textile fabrics.
- Class 125. Raw materials of pharmacy; drugs, simple and compounded.
- Class 126. Explosives; pyrotechnics, bombs, signals; ammunition of all forms and types.

GROUP 24.

MANUFACTURE OF PAPER.

(Raw materials, equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 127. Collections of raw materials used in the manufacture of paper and cardboard.
- Class 128. Equipment and processes used in the manufacture of paper by hand.
- Class 129. Equipment and processes used in the manufacture of paper by machinery.
- Class 130. Apparatus and processes for the making of pulp; pulp from rags (sorting, picking, cutting, bolting, washing; lye-washing, rinsing and draining; beating; bleaching and washing; refining, sizing, coloring, loading, etc.); pulp from straw, from esparto (sorting, crushing, chopping, lye-washing; beating; bleaching, washing and draining, etc.); pulp produced chemically or semi-chemically from wood (cutting up; lye-washing; washing; reduction to pulp; bleaching, etc.), etc.

- Class 131. Machines for producing endless paper.
 Class 132. Apparatus for cutting, glazing, calendering, polishing.
 Class 133. Appliances and processes for manufacturing special papers.
 Class 134. Equipment and processes used for making card-board.
 Class 135. Fine papers and cheap papers for books; China paper, Japan paper, imitation Japan paper, vellum, paper made with animal size, etc. Paper for newspapers and posters. Paper for drawings, for photography, for map-making. Paper for bank notes, parchment. Paper—not made up—for correspondence, note paper, envelopes, etc. Cigarette and tissue paper, not made up; paper for confectionery, for artificial flowers. PREFACE.

A modern Universal Exposition well might be called an encyclopedia of society, as it contains, in highly specialized array, society's words and works. It is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, brought together for the inspection of the world—for examination and study by its experts. It constitutes a compact, classified, indexed compendium, available for ready reference, of the achievements and ideas of society, in all phases of its activities, extending to the most material as well as to the most refined.

The Catalogue of such a Universal Exposition is, therefore, perhaps the most comprehensive and representative contemporary record of the progress and condition of the human race that may be devised. It is a succinct and authentic record of the exhibits of the Exposition, which are the evidence of the capacity and performance in all lines, intellectual, social and industrial, of all of the people of the world. The value of such a document and its significance, socially and commercially, are incalculable. It is an epitome of the capacity and promise of mankind, while being at the same time a roll of honor, a certified register of those individuals and institutions which are taking active part in the life of the world to-day.

FREDERICK J. V. SKIFF.

Director of Exhibits.

INTRODUCTION.

By Milan H. Hulbert, Chief.

THE Department of Manufactures is so comprehensive in scope that two immense palaces are required to house the products coming under its classification. They are the Palace of Varied Industries and the Palace of Manufactures. Situated respectively to the right and left of the Great Basin, these two immense palaces form an important part of the main picture of the Exposition.

The Palace of Varied Industries contains exhibits of all those goods made to please the eye; while the Palace of Manufactures, on the other hand, contains exhibits of goods of a purely utilitarian nature. Each of these palaces is 1200 feet long and 525 feet wide, the total cost of the two approximating $1,500,000. A unique feature of their construction is a court, in the center of each, open to the sky, which adds much to lighting and ventilating the buildings.

The enormous size of the buildings and the thousands of people passing through, suggest a small city, and, following the practice in cities, the aisles have been laid out like streets, each having its name, and each exhibit its number.

The enthusiastic co-operation of the manufacturers of the United States and the unprecedented support of the foreign governments of the world have accomplished for the Department of Manufactures of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition a result far above the most sanguine expectations even of the officials most intimately connected with the work. This liberal treatment is due to several reasons other than the campaign of educational exposition methods carried on for the last three years by the Department itself with the 512,000 manufacturers composing what may be termed its clients.

The most important reason is the higher appreciation in the last few years of the value of ocular impression in advertising as compared to written description and therefore an increased attention given to the proper display of any merchandise to which it is desired to attract attention. At the time of the Chicago Exposition it was generally considered sufficient if goods were installed in a manner answering commercial necessities, but experience since has taught that the best wares improperly displayed will not gain attention, and it is not now uncommon for the large retail stores to have high-salaried men in charge of window displays and arrangements of wares.

This attention to displaying artistically even the most commonplace goods has given the Department of Manufactures such a well-balanced installation that all parts of the two palaces are equally interesting. It has also led to the abolition of the "main aisle," as all the aisles in the two palaces are of equal width and have equal value to the sightseer.

There are three great divisions of the merchandise in the two palaces: The Textiles Section, containing textiles, tissues, clothing, fancy work, etc.; the Hardware Section, containing hardware, glass, heating and cooking apparatus, modern plumbing, lighting appliances, cutlery and sporting goods, and the Section of Industrial Art, including all those objects made to please the eye, such as art pottery, a glass, art jewelry, bronzes, silverware, precious stones, etc.

Unlike previous expositions, the machinery for producing the goods is shown in the same section with the goods themselves, and throughout both palaces the process of manufacture is demonstrated by machinery in actual operation. Hides are converted from the raw material to the finished article, then cut up and made into shoes by a model factory producing three hundred pairs of shoes a day. Machinery is in operation making silks, cottons and woollens, while other machinery in the same section are turning out hats, stockings, handkerchiefs, corsets, suspender ves, hammocks, Indian blankets and numerous other articles. High speed lope machines, a model paper box factory, blank book manufacturing, and the st type of wire-screen weaving machines are seen in operation. These are plemented by many moving displays, such as a large wind mill, made of asands of hatchets, with revolving sails. House cleaning is done by the pneuc process without moving the carpets and hangings from their places.

In the Industrial Art division the visitor is impressed with the advance made he last ten years in the manufacture of artistic merchandise. Until recently, ctly speaking, we have been a commercial nation working almost wholly for the ul and economical, but the displays made in art silverware, art pottery, glass, nzes, jewelry, china, furniture, interior decorations, tapestries, (examples of ch are shown surpassing anything that has ever been done abroad), will convince public that there is no more necessity of going to Europe now for the artistic merchandise than there is for plate glass, silks, and the thousand other commodi- which are made as satisfactorily in the United States as anywhere in the world. In this Industrial Art Section such operative exhibits are found as the manu- of imitation diamonds, the grinding, polishing and setting of turquoise, the Indian expert making hammered silverware in his inimitable way.

In addition to an extensive display of clocks in the Varied Industries Palace, of the most novel features of the Exposition is the floral clock which has been t on Agricultural Hill by the Department of Agriculture. The Department of ufactures furnished the mechanism for this clock. It consists of a dial 100 in diameter, the numerals on which are approximately 15 feet high, and made rely of flowers. At the top of the dial a small house has been built to contain mechanism, and a mammoth hour glass is exposed to view, and on the top of house there is a 5,000 pound bell, whose tones can be heard throughout the unds. This bell strikes the hour and half hour, and upon the first stroke of h hour, the immense hour glass turns and the sand runs back. At the same e the doors of the house spring open, exposing the mechanism which contro's striking and operates the dial, and they close immediately upon the last stroke he bell. At night the clock is brilliantly illuminated, about 1,000 lamps being d for this purpose.

The Department of Manufactures is also especially noted for its representative eign exhibits. In this respect it far surpasses the great exhibit in the Palace industries at the Paris Exposition in 1900.

The Paris Palace of Industries was 1200 feet long and 160 feet wide, less than e the size of either one of the palaces devoted to similar exhibits at the Universal osition of 1904. Its contents were so well installed and displayed, and of such active interest, that this section proved the most popular of the entire Paris osition. The nations whose exhibits stood out prominently were France, gland, Germany, Italy, Austria and Japan. Each of these nations has installed exhibit of its special products of manufacture for the Universal Exposition at Louis, and in addition there are displays from Russia, Belgium, Hungary, land, Denmark, India, Persia, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Mexico, Siam, oa and Aregentine. Germany, whose exhibit at Paris was by far the best lay of Industrial Arts that nation has ever made, has in the Palace of Varied ustries at St. Louis a much more extensive and elaborate exhibit. France has talled in the Palace of Manufactures the most important and representative dis- y that country has ever made in a foreign land, and the same can be said of the nations participating in this great Exposition.

GROUND PLAN PALACE OF MANUFACTURES SHOWING LOCATION OF EXHIBITORS

GROUND PLAN PALACE OF VARIED INDUSTRIES, SHOWING LOCATION OF EXHIBITS

How to Locate an Exhibit in the Palace of Varied Industries or Manufactures.

Consultation with the Ground Plans of the Varied Industries or Manufactures Palaces on the preceding page, will show you that by an orderly arrangement of the blocks and aisles, and the method of numbering, it is quite easy to locate an exhibitor.

All the blocks are numbered, and above each block, a large white and blue sign is hung, giving the number. The streets running north and south are numbered, while those running east and west, are lettered.

If an exhibitor is located in block 45-A, street B-6, you can at once find this location by consulting the Ground Plans and finding block 45-A, and the exhibitor is at the intersection of B and 6 aisles. Foreign Countries are located by the block numbers only. Particular location of individual foreign exhibitors is not given. Most of the foreign exhibits are arranged by groups in such a manner as to make it possible to locate them easy.

DEPARTMENT OF MANUFACTURES.

OFFICIAL CLASSIFICATION OF EXHIBITS.

GROUP 28.

STATIONERY

- Class 162. Equipment for and processes used in making or preparing stationery, account books, copy books, envelopes, bags, wrappers, etc.
- Class 163. Made-up paper and card-board; ruled, bordered or ornamented paper, note paper, envelopes, pockets, bags; school copy books, memorandum books, note books, letter-copying books, account books, book covers, letter files; menu cards, playing cards, paper boxes, cases; packages of cigarette papers, etc.
- Class 164. Desk furnishings, inks, pens, pencils, penholders, crayon holders, wax and wafers, paper weights, ink stands, letter presses, etc.
- Class 165. Artists' materials for painting, architecture, sculpture, pyrography and drawing; canvasses, panels, crayons, brushes, hair pencils, mathematical instruments for architects, etchers, engravers, burners, sculptors, tracing papers and cloths; parchments; colors, varnishes, charcoals, pastels, stumps, lay figures, easels; color boxes and other artists' materials not named above.

GROUP 29.

CUTLERY

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 166. Special equipment for the manufacture of cutlery, particularly for grinding and polishing.
- Class 167. Table cutlery, pocket knives, knives with fixed blades.
- Class 168. Cutlery for gardeners, for vine culture and for various trades.
- Class 169. Scissors and work-box accessories.
- Class 170. Razors of all kinds.
- Class 171. Fine hardware in polished steel.
- Class 172. Small silversmith's ware.
- Class 173. Side arms of all kinds.

SILVERSMITH'S AND GOLDSMITH'S WARE

(Appliances, processes and products.)

- Class 174. Special equipment for manufacture, hand tools; outfit for casting; machinery (lathes, scales, etc.); outfit for electroplating, etc. Methods of work.
- Class 175. Gold and silversmith's work for religious or common uses, in gold, silver, bronze or other metals; plated ware; articles gilt or silver-plated by any processes.
- Class 176. Enameled work; goldsmith's enamel; enamels painted upon metal.

GROUP 31.

JEWELRY

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 177. Special equipment. Methods of work.
- Class 178. Fine jewelry.
- Class 179. Lapidary work; diamond cutting; cutting of gems; engraving on fine stones; Engraving of hard cameos and shells. (See Department B, Group 14.)
- Class 180. Gold and silver jewelry. Jewelry in platinum, aluminum, etc. Jewelry set with precious stones.
- Class 181. Imitation lapidary work. Imitation of precious stones, pearls, etc.
- Class 182. Gilt jewelry; imitation jewelry in copper and other metals; steel jewelry, mourning jewelry in jet and in glass; jewelry in coral; amber, mother-of-pearl, etc.

GROUP 32.

CLOCK AND WATCH MAKING

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 183. Special equipment for manufacturing clocks and watches; hand tools; machine tools (lathes and other tools); measuring instruments.
- Class 184. Preparation of various metals used by watch and clock makers. Separate parts of watch and clock work; springs; watch cases in precious or common metals; holes and fittings in rubies or other jewels; enameled or other dials, etc.
- Class 185. Clocks for churches and public buildings, time recorders.
- Class 186. Astronomical clocks. Marine chronometers.
- Class 187. Clocks moved by electricity, air or water.
- Class 188. Ornamental clocks and timekeepers; regulators; alarm clocks.
- Class 189. Watches; chronometers; watchmen's time registers.
- Class 190. Metronomes, pedometers, various recording instruments. Clepsydras and hour glasses.
- Class 191. Chimes connected with clock work.

GROUP 33.

PRODUCTIONS IN MARBLE, BRONZE, CAST IRON AND WROUGHT IRON

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 192. Special equipment for manufacture; types of foundries; patterns and moulds; outfit for chasing and repousse work; processes for mechanical reduction.
- Class 193. Reproductions of works of art/in marble, stone, plaster, terra cotta, wax, etc.
- Class 194. Art work and reproductions of art in metals.
- Class 195. Repousse, stamped and damascened metals.

GROUP 34.

BRUSHES, FINE LEATHER ARTICLES, FANCY ARTICLES AND BASKET WORK

(Equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 196. Equipment and methods used in the manufacture of brushes, fine leather articles, fancy articles and basket work.
- Class 197. Brushes; toilet brushes designated as fine brushes, brushes for household, harness and stable use, etc., designated as coarse brushes; brushes for artists and for house painting, designated as paint brushes; feather brushes; brooms; carpet sweepers.

- Class 198. Fine leather goods; dressing cases, traveling bags, scabbards, portemonnaies, portfolios, toilet cases, note books, cigar cases, small objects and fancy articles in skins; clasps for portemonnaies and hand bags.
- Class 199. Fancy articles; work boxes and small fancy furniture, liquor cases, glove boxes, jewel cases; turned articles, engine turned, carved, engraved in ivory, tortoise shell, mother-of-pearl, etc., pipes and smokers' articles, snuff boxes; toilet and other combs in ivory, tortoise shell, horn, celluloid, boxwood, etc.; various articles in lacquer work, small bronzes.
- Class 200. Basket work; baskets and hampers for common use, fancy baskets for confectioners, for household use, traveling, etc.; articles in grass.

GROUP 35.

ARTICLES FOR TRAVELING AND FOR CAMPING; INDIA RUBBER AND GUTTA PERCHA INDUSTRIES.

- Class 201. Trunks, valises, bags, satchels, dressing and traveling cases; packing cases and boxes; shawl straps, etc. Locks and other fittings for trunks, valises, etc. Cushions. Alpenstocks, grapnels, parasols. Various requisites for travelers.
- Class 202. Portable equipment specially prepared for traveling and for scientific expeditions, outfits for geologists, mineralogists, naturalists, colonists, pioneers, explorers, etc.
- Class 203. Tents and accessories. Beds, hammocks, seats, folding chairs and other camp furniture and equipment.
- Class 204. Tents and furniture of military types.
- Class 205. Equipment and methods used in the manufacture of India rubber and gutta percha goods.
- Class 206. General products of the India rubber and gutta percha industries. Waterproof clothing and boots and shoes.

GROUP 36.

TOYS

- Class 207. Equipment and processes used in the manufacture of toys.
- Class 208. Playthings; dolls; talking dolls and accessories, playthings in metal, dolls' dinner and tea services, children's watches, mechanical toys, arms and equipment for children, musical instruments, dolls' furniture, horses, animals, carts, toys in India rubber, and in gold beaters' skin, scientific and educational toys. Games.

GROUP 37.

DECORATION AND FIXED FURNITURE OF BUILDINGS AND DWELLINGS

Permanent Decoration of Public Buildings and of Dwellings.

- Class 209. Plans, drawings and models of permanent decoration.
- Class 210. Carpentry; models of frame work, roof work, vaults, domes, wooden partitions, etc.
- Class 211. Ornamental joiner work; doors, windows, panels, inlaid floors, organ cases, choir stalls, etc.
- Class 212. Permanent decorations in marble, stone, plaster, papier-mache, carton pierre, etc.
- Class 213. Ornamental carvings and pyrographics.
- Class 214. Iron work and locksmiths' work applied to decoration; grill work and doors in cast or wrought iron (See Department B, Group 14); doors and balustrades in bronze; roof decoration in lead, copper, zinc, dormers, spires, finials, vanes; crest and ridge work.
- Class 215. Decorative paintings on stone, wood, metal, canvas, or other surfaces. Signs of all varieties.
- Class 216. Mosaic decorations in stone or marble for flooring; enameled mosaic for walls and vaulted surfaces.
- Class 217. Various applications of ceramics to the permanent decoration of public buildings and dwellings.

GROUP 38.

OFFICE AND HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE

- Class 218. Sideboards, bookcases, tables, stands, beds, desks, files, cabinets, wardrobes, chiffoniers, chairs, billiard tables, etc. Settees, couches and lounges.

GROUP 39.

STAINED GLASS.

- Class 219. Stained glass for churches, public buildings and private dwellings. Specimens of various kinds of glass used for decorative windows. Special enamels. Models of window tracery. (See Department B, Group 14.)

GROUP 40.

MORTUARY MONUMENTS AND UNDERTAKERS' FURNISHINGS

- Class 220. Marble, stone and metal monuments; mausoleums and fittings.
Class 221. Coffins, caskets and undertakers' furnishing goods.

GROUP 41.

HARDWARE

(Equipments, methods and products.)

- Class 222. Special tools, not included in the class of machine tools, used by smiths, farriers, bolt makers, screw cutters, wire drawers, nail makers, buckle makers, chain makers, copper-smiths, tin-smiths, edge tool makers, iron founders, ironmongers, lock-smiths, model makers, etc.
- Class 223. Hardware not otherwise provided for, made of plates, forgings, or castings. Pipe fittings, cocks, taps, etc.; bells; machine-made bronzes; shoes for horses and for other animals; flatirons, etc.
- Class 224. Bolts, nuts and screws for wood or metal.
- Class 225. Products of nail making and wire drawing. Nails, brads, tacks, staples; wire; wire ropes, barbed wire, wire fencing, wire cloth, and wire gauze; wire springs.
- Class 226. Buckle making, and kindred industries; rings, hooks, hinges.
- Class 227. Chain making and kindred industries.
- Class 228. Household utensils in metal.
- Class 229. Metal plates, flanged, stamped, decorated, perforated, etc.
- Class 230. Enameled plates and castings for buildings, household and general use.
- Class 231. Hollow ware, cast or pressed, plain, polished, japanned, enameled, granitized or porcelain lined.
- Class 232. Tubes and pipe, drawn, welded or cast.
- Class 233. Sheet metal, stamped, spun, flanged, decorated, perforated; caps, buttons, eyelets, cans; lamp-shades, etc.
- Class 234. Products of exact and fine metal working; spectacle frames; fine springs.
- Class 235. Edge tools and other tools; scythes, sickles, pruning hooks; machetes; axes, adzes, hatchets; chisels, planes, boring tools, saws, hammers; files, etc.
- Class 236. Pulleys and pulley blocks.
- Class 237. Builders' and upholsterers' hardware; fittings and fastenings for doors, windows, etc.; casters, clamps, brackets, pulls, etc.
- Class 238. Safes, safety vaults and accessories; safe locks.
- Class 239. Metal work, cast, wrought, of wire; for stair railings, balusters, balconies, grill work, etc.
- Class 240. Metal work, plated, enameled, etc., for bedsteads, gas and electric light fixtures, store fixtures, cash carriers, etc.
- Class 241. Garden furniture and vases in metal.
- Class 242. Summer houses and pavilions in metal; bird cages, aviaries, awnings, verandas.

- Class 243. Metal shutters for windows, doors; screens and Venetian blinds.
 Class 244. Various products of exact rolling or of beating of gold, silver and tin; metallic foils.
 Class 245. Various products of gilding or plating with metals.
 Class 246. Galvanized, tinned or leaded sheet iron.
 Class 247. Builders' work in sheet metal.

GROUP 42.

PAPER HANGING

(Raw materials, equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 248. Special raw materials used in the manufacture of wall paper.
 Class 249. Machinery for printing wall paper and fancy papers. Machines for engraving printing rollers. Flat wood blocks or copper plates, engraved by hand. Drawing pens. Machines for varnishing, glazing, calendering, embossing, gilding, flocking, rolling and cutting.
 Class 250. Special brushes and cloths used in the laying of wall paper.
 Class 251. Stained papers, printed papers. Flocked, marbled, veined, gilt papers. Papers for book covers, binding, etc. Artistic paper. Enameled and glazed paper. Imitations of wood and of leather. Window shades painted or printed, and fixtures for.

GROUP 43.

CARPETS, TAPESTRIES AND FABRICS FOR UPHOLSTERY

(Materials, equipment, methods and products.)

- Class 252. Special machinery for the manufacture of carpets and tapestry; high-warp looms, low-warp looms, bobbin-winders, etc.
 Class 253. Carpets, moquette, tapestry, brussels or velvet. Felt carpets, rugs, mats, etc.
 Class 254. Furniture and wall coverings, materials in silk, wool, cotton, linen, jute, ramie, grass, plain, mixed, brocaded, printed, embroidered. Horse-hair cloths, vegetable leather, moleskin, etc. Leather for hangings and for covering furniture. (See Department B, Group 14.) Oilcloths and linoleum.

GROUP 44.

UPHOLSTERERS' DECORATIONS

- Class 255. Decoration for public and private festivals, for religious services, etc. Bunting, flags.
 Class 256. Bed furniture, upholstered chairs, canopies, curtains, hangings of cloth or tapestry; frames; framed mirrors, etc.

GROUP 45.

CERAMICS

(Raw materials, equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 257. Raw materials, particularly chemical products used in ceramic industries. (See Department L, Group 116.)
 Class 258. Equipment and methods used in the manufacture of earthenware; machines for turning, pressing and moulding earthenware; machines for making brick, roofing tile, drain tile, and pottery for building purposes; furnaces, kilns, muffles, and baking apparatus; appliances for preparing and grinding enamels.
 Class 259. Various porcelains.
 Class 260. Bisque of porcelain and of earthenware.
 Class 261. Earthenware of white or colored body, with transparent or tin glazes. Faience.

- Class 262. Earthenware and terra cotta for agricultural purposes; paving tiles, enameled lava.
- Class 263. Stoneware, plain and decorated.
- Class 264. Tiles, plain, encaustic and decorated; mosaics, bricks, paving bricks, pipes.
- Class 265. Fire-proof materials. (See Department L, Group 116.)
- Class 266. Statuettes, groups and ornaments in terra cotta.
- Class 267. Enamels applied to ceramics.
- Class 268. Mosaics of clay or of enamel.
- Class 269. Mural designs; borders for fire-places and mantels. (See Department B, Group 14.)

GROUP 46.

PLUMBING AND SANITARY MATERIALS

- Class 270. Sanitary earthenware; bathing apparatus and attachments, lavatory fittings, laundry tubs, basins, cocks, draws, etc.; sewerage apparatus; plumbers' appliances.

GROUP 47.

GLASS AND CRYSTAL

(Raw materials, equipment, processes and products.)

- Class 271. Raw materials and particularly chemical products used in the manufacture of glass.
- Class 272. Equipment and processes used in the manufacture of glass and crystal apparatus for the preparation of raw materials; furnaces; blowing apparatus; moulds; lathes for engraving and shaping; apparatus for cutting and for casting, etc.
- Class 273. Window glass, white or colored, fluted, enameled, etc. Glass for photography. Curved glass.
- Class 274. Plate glass, rough or polished. Silvered glass. Glass for pavement. Mirrors for projections. Glass with surface in relief.
- Class 275. Table glass; glass or crystal, white or colored, cut or engraved; glassware and glass apparatus for scientific uses.
- Class 276. Ornamental glass.
- Class 277. Bottles.
- Class 278. Enamels; their application to glass.
- Class 279. Mosaics of glass.
- Class 280. Imitation precious stones.
- Class 281. Watch glasses; spectacle glasses.
- Class 282. Glass used for optical purposes.

GROUP 48.

APPARATUS AND PROCESSES FOR HEATING AND VENTILATION

- Class 283. Heating by steam, hot water, hot air, and their combinations.
- Class 284. Methods of conveying and distributing steam, hot water and hot air used separately or in combination.
- Class 285. Stoves and furnaces peculiar to the various systems of heating.
- Class 286. Radiators of heat of all kinds and sizes. Steam or hot water boiler. Steam or hot water ranges. Hot air pipes. Hot air stoves.
- Class 287. Apparatus for household heating and for the preparation and cooking of food; kitchen utensils, and miscellaneous articles for household use. Stoves or chimneys, fixed or movable.
- Class 288. Apparatus for heating by petroleum or by gas.
- Class 289. Steam cooking ranges. Kitchen ranges of all kinds, stoves used at the same time for cooking food and for warming apartments. Stoves adapted to certain special forms of cooking. Stove apparatus, fixed or movable, used for preparing food or beverages in large quantities.

- ass 290. Natural ventilation; ventilation by exhaustion; ventilation by mechanical means and their combinations.
- ass 291. Plans and models of buildings, heated and ventilated; public buildings, factories, dwelling houses.
- ass 292. Ventilators and displacers of air. Up-draft ventilators.
- ass 293. Methods for the direct renewal of air to warmed and ventilated apartments.
- ass 294. Ventilators operated by the wind or by difference of temperature.
- ass 295. Sanitation and ventilation of kitchens and small living rooms.
- ass 296. Accessories to heating and ventilation. Measuring and registering apparatus; thermometers, self-registering thermometers, pyrometers, anemometers, manometers for measuring low gas pressures, and for indicating the level of water in pipes; appliances for measuring the flow of steam through pipes; registering apparatus of every kind.
- ass 297. Thermostats; distributing and regulating apparatus; regulators of temperature; regulators of draught; regulators of pressure; automatic drip cocks and air cocks; cocks specially fitted for heating apparatus.
- ass 298. Chimney fittings. Dampers for chimneys; closing of flues; opening for hot air and ventilation. Gratings and plates. Metallic casings for heating apparatus; special sheet iron chimney pots.
- ass 299. Fireplace and chimney pottery. Stoves and chimneys in earthenware. Ornaments. Earthenware of every sort for the fireplace. Refractory materials for hearths, hot air stoves, linings and chimneys.
- ass 300. Hearth furniture; fire lighters; ash sifters; utensils for cleaning and repairing; accessories.

GROUP 49.

APPARATUS AND METHODS, NOT ELECTRICAL, FOR LIGHTING

- ass 301. Lighting by means of vegetable or mineral oils (petroleum, shale, heavy oil, heavy oil sprayed, spirit); lamps, burners, wicks, lamp chimneys, etc.; apparatus for domestic, industrial and public lighting.
- ass 302. Lighting by gas; lamps, burners, chimneys, burners of flat flame. Argand burners, burners for recuperation, for carburizing, for incandescence, apparatus for domestic, industrial and public lighting.
- ass 303. Accessories to lighting: lighters, glasses, globes, shades, reflectors, screens, smoke consumers, etc.

GROUP 50.

TEXTILES

Materials and processes for Spinning and Rope Making.

- ass 304. Machinery and apparatus used in preparing and spinning textile materials.
- ass 305. Apparatus used in subsequent operations: spooling, winding, twisting, throwing. Mechanical finishing of goods.
- ass 306. Detached parts of spinning machinery and special machines for their manufacture.
- ass 307. Apparatus for sorting, testing and registering. Apparatus for perfecting. Equipment for making cordage.

GROUP 51.

EQUIPMENT AND PROCESSES USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF TEXTILE FABRICS

- ass 308. Apparatus used in operations preliminary to weaving; machines for warping, cop winders. Card preparing machines.
- ass 309. Hand and power looms for weaving plain cloths. Looms for weaving brocaded and embroidered fabrics, box looms.
- ass 310. Knitting machinery for hosiery. Machinery for making lace and tulle. Machinery for making trimmings.

GROUP 52.

EQUIPMENT AND PROCESSES USED IN BLEACHING, DYEING, PRINTING AND FINISHING TEXTILES IN THEIR VARIOUS STAGES

- Class 311. Apparatus for singeing, brushing and shearing textile fabrics.
 Class 312. Apparatus for washing in lye, scouring, washing, drying and moistening various textile materials, whether matted, combed, in thread or in the web.
 Class 313. Apparatus for boiling and staining dye stuffs and stuffs for thickening fabrics.
 Class 314. Equipment for engraving in relief or in incised work patterns for printing on textiles.
 Class 315. Machines for starching, dyeing or printing. Apparatus for steaming.
 Class 316. Machinery of all kinds for finishing goods; for fulling, and for teasing; tenterframes, calendars, machines for glazing, watering, embossing, beetling. Machines for measuring, folding, etc.
 Class 317. Appliances used for dyeing silks, for beating, shaking up, pinning out, lustering, etc.
 Class 318. Sweating boxes for thickening, apparatus for spotting, apparatus for bleaching by electricity.
 Class 319. Equipment and processes for laundry work. Treating with lye. Washing and rinsing, drying, ironing and finishing.
 Class 320. Industry of the dyers and scourers; dry cleaning by benzine and its derivatives; cleaning by wet process; dyeing, pressing.
 Class 321. Specimens of textile materials bleached or dyed before spinning.
 Class 322. Specimens of threads or yarns of cotton, linen, wool, silk, etc., pure or mixed, bleached, dyed or mottled.
 Class 323. Specimens of textile fabrics bleached, dyed or printed.
 Class 324. Specimens of threads, yarns or fabrics which have been sized.
 Class 325. Specimens of chemical thickening of textile materials before they have been spun or woven.

GROUP 53.

EQUIPMENT AND PROCESSES USED IN SEWING AND MAKING WEARING APPAREL

- Class 326. Common implements used in needle work.
 Class 327. Machines for cutting cloths, skins and leathers.
 Class 328. Machines for sewing, stitching, hemming, embroidering, etc.
 Class 329. Machines for making button-holes; for sewing gloves, leather, boots and shoes, etc.; plaiting straw for hats.
 Class 330. Tailors' geese and flatirons.
 Class 331. Busts and figures for trying on garments.
 Class 332. Machines for preparing separate parts of boots and shoes (stamping, moulding, etc.).
 Class 333. Machines for lasting, pegging, screwing, nailing.
 Class 334. Machines for making hats of straw, felt, etc.

GROUP 54.

THREADS AND FABRICS OF COTTON

- Class 335. Cotton prepared and spun.
 Class 336. Fabrics of cotton, pure or mixed, plain or figured, unbleached, dyed or printed.
 Class 337. Cotton velvets.
 Class 338. Cotton ribbons.
 Class 339. Counterpanes.

GROUP 55.

THREADS AND FABRICS OF VEGETABLE FIBRES OTHER THAN COTTON

- Class 340. Threads of vegetable fibres; flax, hemp, jute, ramie, etc.
 Class 341. Fabrics of vegetable fibres other than cotton; plain and figured canvas, ticking, damask, linen, cambries and lawns, plain and fancy handkerchiefs, etc.
 Class 342. Fabrics of flax or hemp, mixed with cotton or silk.
 Class 343. Fabrics of vegetable fibres other than cotton; flax, hemp, jute, ramie, etc.
 Class 344. Cordage; cables, rope, twine, etc.

GROUP 56.

YARNS AND FABRICS OF ANIMAL FIBRES

- Class 345. Combed animal fibres. Yarn of combed animal fibres.

PREFACE.

A modern Universal Exposition well might be called an encyclopedia of society, as it contains, in highly specialized array, society's words and works. It is a collection of the wisdom and achievements of the world, brought together for the inspection of the world—for examination and study by its experts. It constitutes a compact, classified, indexed compendium, available for ready reference, of the achievements and ideas of society, in all phases of its activities, extended to the most material as well as to the most refined.

The Catalogue of such a Universal Exposition is, therefore, perhaps the most comprehensive and representative contemporary record of the progress and condition of the human race that may be devised. It is a succinct and authentic record of the exhibits of the Exposition, which are the evidences of the capacity and performance in all lines, intellectual, social, and industrial, of all of the peoples of the world. The value of such a document and its significance, socially and commercially, are incalculable. It is an epitome of the capacity and promise of mankind, while being at the same time a roll of honor—a certified register of those individuals and institutions which are taking active part in the life of the world to-day.

THE PALACE OF MACHINERY.

Majestic in appearance, the Palace of Machinery stands out strong and clearly defined in the central picture of the Exposition. Its towers, lifting their green-capped domes high above the other Exhibit Palaces, make it a most conspicuous feature in the general sky line effect. Its size is imposing for the floor plan of this superb structure covers a space one thousand feet long, and for most of that distance five hundred feet wide. It faces, to the east the lagoon, to the north the Palace of Transportation, to the west the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building—and beyond the French National Pavilion—to the south the hill for the most part covered by the Imperial Japanese Reservation.

Viewed architecturally, Machinery Hall reflects the spirit of the Renaissance while the introduction of high sloping roofs backing impressive and profusely sculpture-decked entrances gives a well defined suggestion of German feeling. Above all, classic towers surmounting the corners and flanking the main entrance add grace and dignity to the effect.

Internally, Machinery Hall is particularly well planned for the exhibits it contains. No court breaks the vistas north and south, nor east and west, but from side to side and end to end views along the broad concrete aisles are possible. This condition is almost a necessity in a building where many of the exhibit items tower forty feet above the aisle level, and it adds to the impressiveness of the display and reflects credit on the forethought of the architects and the designers of the structural work.

The visitors to Machinery Hall should not fail to inspect the grand central entrance from the north, and the hardly less impressive central entrance from the east. The lines in both of these entrances are particularly happy, and the ornately sculptured decorations of the arches and walls are well worth careful study.

One hundred feet to the west of Machinery Hall will be found the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building a fireproof structure, designed and built especially for the purpose indicated by its title. In this building will be found the boiler plant of the Exposition, gas producers, fuel handling apparatus, and other items germane to the first stages of steam and gas power plant operations. No attempt has been made at ornamentation, but, on the contrary, the building and its contents are distinctly business like in character. In this respect the total is most consistent, and when studied in detail the forcefulness of presentation will impress itself upon all interested in power plant work, and interest those who, while they may not be engineers or directly interested in machinery, nevertheless have a desire to learn whence and how the power originates for the lighting of their homes and the propelling of the cars they ride in.

With the exception of the Switchboard Gallery at the western and the Office Gallery at the eastern ends, there are no galleries in Machinery Hall, and there is none in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building. This, supplementing a good arrangement of skylights and windows, makes the natural light and ventilation particularly good in all sections and adds greatly to the comfort of exhibitors and visitors.

Those who have occasion to visit the Executive Offices of the Department of Machinery and the headquarters of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will find them on the gallery at the central eastern entrance. They can be reached either by stairs or by the elevator on Aisle 3, Block 5.

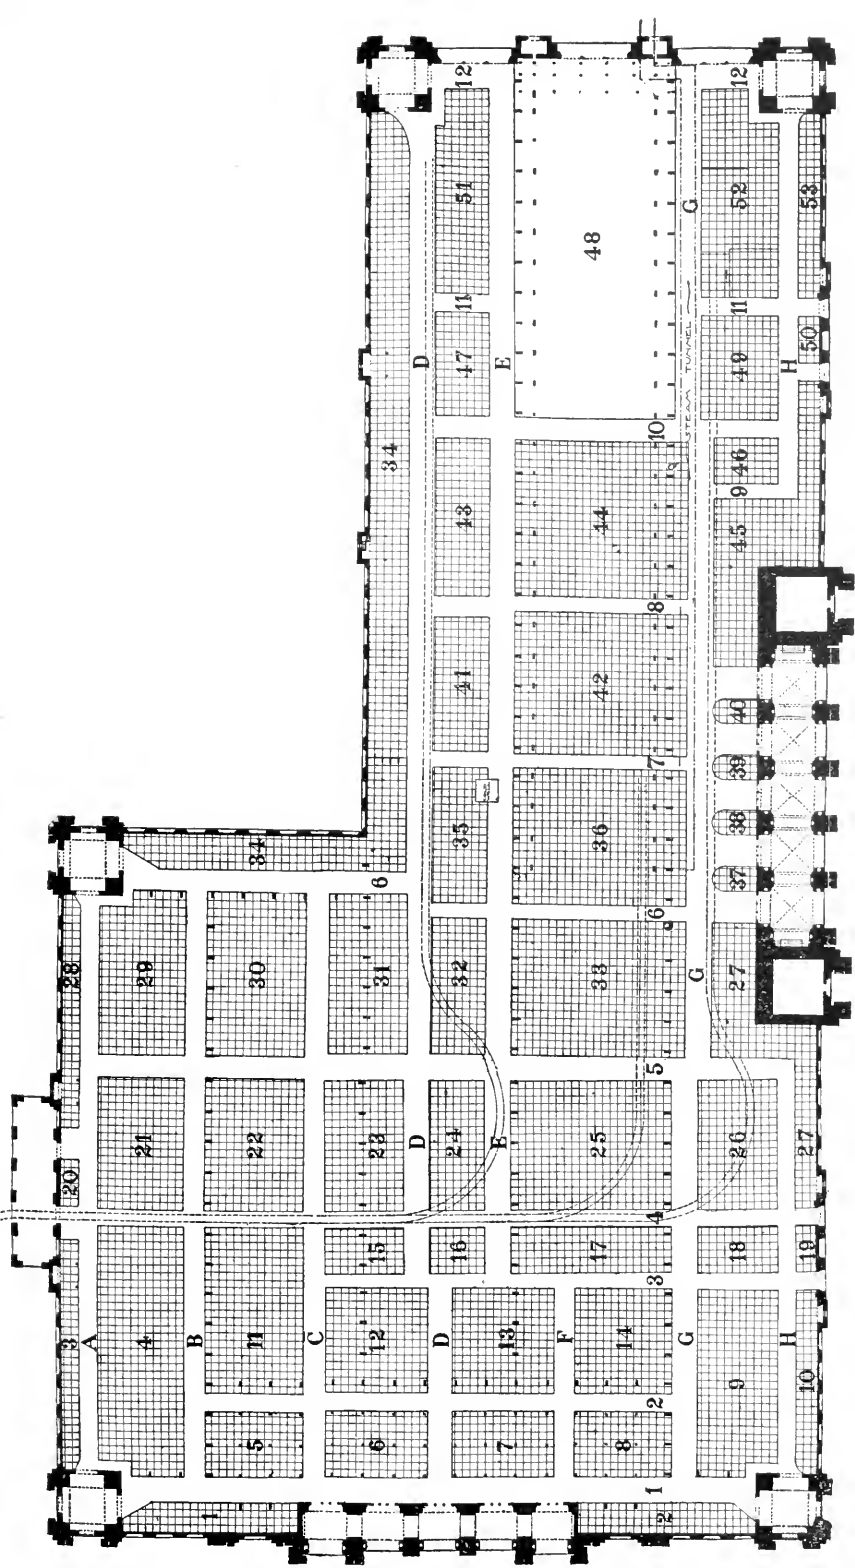

The architects of the Palace of Machinery are Messrs. Widman, Walsh & Boisselier of St. Louis. They prepared the design or daring but effective external picture. The framing of the structure, its intricate system of roof supports, etc., was planned in the Division of Works under instructions from Mr. Isaac S. Taylor, Director of Works.

How to Locate an Exhibit.

To find an exhibit observe the block numbers suspended on large signs over each block. The aisles are lettered from South to North, and numbered from East to West. Aisle A is on the South side of the building, and aisle 1 on the East side. The numbering of the blocks is from South to North across the building.

INTRODUCTION.

By Thos. M. Moore, Chief.

The purpose of the collection of exhibits in Machinery Hall and the Steam, Gas, and Fuels Building is to show (1) the modern means and methods for development, controlling and using power, and (2) machinery and apparatus used in making machines. Herein are two distinct propositions, which, while distinct, are closely related. For a description of the former, which in effect is power plant equipment and practice, reference may be had to the remarks on pages 10 under the caption: "The Exhibits Power Plant." This subject, popularly supposed to be of interest and importance to engineers only and aside from them full of dark mystery beyond the ken of the average man and woman, is in its general demonstration easily grasped by anyone who has an opportunity to see the apparatus arranged in logical sequence and who will give the subject a fair amount of intelligent thought and observation. Considering that the homes of the majority of visitors here are lit with electricity drawn from central power stations and that all are carried in cars propelled by electric energy, and that a vast number of individuals have money invested in lighting, transit and power companies, it seems reasonable to suppose many will avail of the opportunity we present and secure a knowledge which will add to the pleasure of their enjoyment or possibly to a more intelligent guardianship of their financial interests. While to see the wheels go around is attractive, the interest is doubled when even a rudimentary knowledge of what makes them go around and what the going around accomplishes is present. A few hours intelligently spent in the Western half of Machinery Hall and in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building will give this knowledge.

To the second proposition, "Machinery and apparatus used in making machines," about two-thirds of Machinery Hall is devoted. With a few exceptions the exhibits to accomplish like or similar results will be found grouped in and about certain well defined locations. Means for guiding and controlling the flow of water, steam and gas are located along or near the Northernly wall of the building. Next and toward the South are machines for cutting and forming metals. The range of the assortment extends from the huge machines used in ship, engine and car works down to the pigmy tools used in watch making. Instruments which will measure to one ten-thousandth part of an inch, and tools which do work so accurate as to require such refinement in measuring are here shown. Next come automatic machines which turn out finished bolts, nuts, screws and the like, machines which in a few seconds without guidance or help from the human hand or mind turn out a finished article—say bolts or nuts in exact uniformity, none of which could be made by hand with such accuracy and any one of which would call for hours of labor by a skilled mechanic.

Toward the center of the building, power punches, presses, die machinery, metal bending and shaping tools and forge shop equipments are grouped. Near these on one side are magnificent displays of abrasives and machinery for using abrasives. Next on the opposite side are pumps, air compressors and water meters. Beyond these are the gas and gasoline engines. Bordering on these is the collection of belts, pulleys, hangers and shafting and then follow hoisting engines, winches, cranes and other apparatus and appliances for lifting heavy bodies. In succession follow pneumatic tools and appliances, fire hose and fire escapes and miscellaneous machinery until the wood working group is reached in the Southeast quarter of the building.

Within the scope of this preface it is impossible to give more than the motif which governs the selection and locating of the thousands of items exhibited. The best thought and most advanced achievements of the foremost mechanics and works of this country and Europe are represented. For instance, in the German representation is a press built by the Krupp Works at Essen. It is exhibited and shown in operation by its inventor. Aside from its interest to engineers this press shows a daring in design and knowledge and resources in construction which must appeal to the public. The pressure exerted and held within its cylinder is of ninety thousand pounds to the square inch. Ninety thousand pounds per square inch is about one thousand times the average pressure required to actuate the ordinary steam engine. It is twice the pressure which, exerted by the discharge of powder within a twelve inch rifle or cannon, will throw a one thousand pound projectile fifteen miles through the air.

The visitor to Machinery Hall should bear in mind that it covers nearly ten acres or several city blocks; for instance, in New York somewhat more than the four blocks bounded by Fifth and Fourth avenues and Thirty-fourth and Thirty-sixth streets. The Steam, Gas and Fuels Building covers over two acres. With hardly an exception in order to discover the salient feature of an exhibit it is necessary to inspect it with some care. Therefore sufficient time should be devoted for even a measurably fair inspection of the exhibits in these buildings.

DEPARTMENT OF MACHINERY.

OFFICIAL CLASSIFICATION OF EXHIBITS.

GROUP 62.

STEAM ENGINES

- class 393. Appliances for boiler feeding, fuel economizers, steam jacketing, anti-scaling compounds, methods of purification of water. Feed water heaters, steam dryers, superheaters. Oil extractors.
- class 394. Boilers, stationary, semi-stationary, or portable; steam-gauges, grate-bars, flue cleaners, packings, and fittings for boilers. Chimneys for boilers. Smoke consumers.
- class 395. Transmission of steam; cocks, valves, traps, separators, condensers, joints, gaskets, piping and systems.
- class 396. Engines, stationary, portable and semi-portable. Military traction engines. Valve gear. Regulators and governors. Apparatus for lubrication.
- class 397. Engines moved by vapors other than steam.
- class 398. Methods and apparatus for testing and registering steam engines, boilers, and appliances.

GROUP 63.

VARIOUS MOTORS

- class 399. Engines operated by heated air, gas, petroleum, alcohol, compressed or rarefied air, ammonia, carbonic acid gas. Parts and fittings; apparatus and systems for generating gas for such machines.
- class 400. Hydraulic motors, wheels, turbines, water pressure engines, etc.
- class 401. Wind mills and wind motors.
- class 402. Horse powers; tumblers, spring, counter weight and pedal motors, etc.

GROUP 64.

GENERAL MACHINERY

- class 403. Apparatus for the transmission of power, shafting, hangers, pedestals, guides, gears, clutches, pawls, and systems.
- class 404. Pulleys, belts, cables and links for the transmission of power. Funicular systems.
- class 405. Governors and speeds regulators.
- class 406. Lubricators, lubricants and systems.
- class 407. Apparatus for measuring the work of machines, counters, recorders, speed indicators, dynamometers, pressure gauges.
- class 408. Weighing machines. Testing machines. Meters for water or gas.
- class 409. Machines for moving heavy bodies, cranes, lifts, conveyors, etc. (See 142.)
- class 410. Machines for raising water, hand or steam pumps, norias, hydraulic rams, etc. Machines for sinking wells.
- class 411. Fire engines and apparatus used by firemen.
- class 412. Hydraulic presses and accumulators.
- class 413. Water pipes and accessories.
- class 414. Air and gas compressors and pipes.
- class 415. Ventilators, blowers and systems.

- Class 416. Transmission and distribution of power at a distance by means of water, steam, air, or vacuum.
- Class 417. Apparatus and accessories for the prevention of accidents by machinery, and for the regulation of shop practice and economies therein.
- Class 418. Marine and deep water machinery, diving bells, diving apparatus.

GROUP 65.

MACHINE TOOLS

- Class 419. For working in metal; machines working by shock, compression, or tension; steam hammers, trip hammers, drop-forging and swaging machines; machines for cutting, shearing, punching, stamping, countersinking and shaping; rolls, draw benches, wire drawing machines; machines and presses for stretching, flanging, etc.; machines for bending, butting and welding; for riveting; for working plates (cutting, bending, rolling, edging, etc.) Methods of heating, annealing, tempering, cementing, welding, and brazing in ordinary use. Tools used with the forge and with the above-named machines; anvils, beaked anvils, vises, hammers, shears, punches, dies, etc.; various compounds for metal tempering, welding, and cleaning.
- Class 420. Machines with cutting tools; lathes; machinery for drilling, boring, reaming and tapping; screw and bolt cutters; machines for planing, milling, slotting, grooving, etc. Drills, taps, dies, cutters, reamers, chucks and special tools and accessories.
- Class 421. Machines which have as tools such substances as grit, emery, or diamond; machines to grind, polish, sharpen; dressers. Grindstones, emery grinders, tools of carborundum and diamond. Accessories of these machines.
- Class 422. Equipment and tools for hand work; vises, files, graving tools, taps and dies, screw plates, etc.
- Class 423. Methods and equipment for setting out work, adjusting, checking, and testing; measuring tools and instruments of precision and for testing shapes and dimensions. Machine and forge-shop equipments.
- Class 424. For working in wood: Saws for felling trees, dividing into logs, and appliances for trimming, handling and working timber. Machines for working lumber; for sawing, planing, turning, boring, moulding, mortising, tonguing, grooving, tenoning, shaping, and carving; for bending and pressing; for sanding and polishing; for veneer-cutting and veneering. Nailing and wooden-bag and basket-making machinery.
- Class 425. Machine and hand tools especially fitted for working in wood. Knives, tools and appliances for wood-working machinery. Machine fittings.
- Class 426. Various machine tools not included in any other classification.

GROUP 66.

ARSENAL TOOLS

- Class 427. Special machinery and tools used in the manufacture of arms for military and civilian use; arsenal tools; machines for forging and straightening barrels, special lathes for instantaneous reproductions; machines for finishing the interior boring of barrels, boring machines, machines for punching gun barrels; special machines for making wooden gun stocks; milling machines, machines for reproducing different parts of arms in steel; machines for polishing and finishing tempered pieces; materials and tools for manufacture of cartridges and ammunition for both military and sportsmen's use.

EXHIBITS .
POWER PLANT

ORGANIZED UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE DE-PARTMENTS OF MACHINERY AND ELECTRICITY.

EXHIBITS POWER PLANT.

The Power Plant of the Exposition, which is located in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building and in the West end of Machinery Hall, furnishes all the light and power used in the service of the Exposition. It includes the big pumps for fire protection, the compressors for the compressed air service, and the engines and dynamos which furnish electric current for all the lighting of the grounds and buildings and for operating the Intramural Railway, the automobiles, the electric launches, the motors for pumping the water which flows over the Cascades, and the many motors throughout the grounds and buildings wherever useful work is done or exhibit machinery operated.

The Exhibits Power Plant comprises that portion of the Power Plant which is composed of machinery and apparatus furnished by exhibitors. It includes 36 of the 54 boilers located in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building together with their accessories. It includes the steam engines and generators which furnish all the electricity for operating the Intramural Railway and the Arc Lighting System, and one-half of the General Lighting and Power Service of the Exposition. It also includes the compressors for compressed air service and the engines and dynamos which furnish the power for operating all the electrically driven machinery in Machinery Hall and in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building. It is composed of machinery and appliances furnished by 119 exhibitors, including the leading companies both of this country and Europe, and represents a market value of over $1,000,000.

A mere cursory inspection of the Power Plant will entirely fail to give the visitor any idea of its plan and scope. All that is apparent to one so viewing the Plant is a number of large and ponderous machines, quietly moving and appearing to make little effort or to give out but little power. The thoughtful observer, however, may here behold the greatest and most wonderful of all the processes shown at the Exposition, i. e., the process, or rather series of processes, by which the stored energy of coal is transformed and retransformed by successive steps, appearing in the furnaces as heat, in the boilers as the energy of steam, in the engines as the energy of moving masses and in the dynamos as electricity, to be distributed by unseen wires throughout the vast area of the Exposition and again transformed into the energy of turning wheels, of flashing lights and rushing waters.

From the time the coal leaves the mines it is never again moved by the hand of man. Arriving on the track in the west end of the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building, in the hopper bottom self-dumping cars of the Exposition Company, it falls by gravity into a pit beneath the track; from this time on it is automatically handled by its own energy. First it is crushed, then elevated into a large storage tank; from here it is conveyed to a bucket elevator which carries it up to an elevated runway along which it is again carried around the building by a conveyor and dropped into hoppers in front of each individual boiler. From these hoppers it falls into the furnaces upon moving grates along which it continues its course until what remains leaves the rear of the grates as ashes, its energy having been given up to the boilers, transforming their contents from water into steam.

The steam through large pipes located in a tunnel, is conducted to Machinery Hall where it sets into motion the huge engines which drive the dynamos. In these the energy is transformed into electricity, and from the dynamos the electricity is conducted by cables to the four switchboards from which it is distributed through thousands of miles of cables and wires to all parts of the grounds and buildings. The cables and wires are the veins and arteries of the Exposition and the Power Plant is its ever throbbing heart.

Although the conditions of an Exposition are such as to necessitate the use of various sizes and types of boilers, engines, dynamos and accessories, instead of a number of units of uniform type and size (as is common in modern power station practice), nevertheless the Exhibits Power Plant considered in detail is thoroughly representative of standard types and the most approved practice.

The coal is handled by an electrically driven, automatic conveying system. The boilers are almost all fired by mechanical stokers and are equipped with induced draft. The boilers are all of the water tube type. Most of them are of horizontal type and built for 175 pounds working pressure. There are, however, similar boilers designed for 250 pressure to furnish steam for turbines, also 5 vertical boilers, and 7 marine type boilers of European make, several of which are to operate at 300 pounds pressure. The plant also includes feed pumps, heaters, purifiers and other accessories, all furnished as exhibits by firms for the most part leaders in their respective lines. The engines and dynamos are of varied sizes and types, but each by itself represents an up-to-date standard type. They are arranged in several distinct systems according to the service for which they are suitable.

The General Lighting and Power Service is furnished by a 3 phase 25 cycle 6600 volt system. In this service there are four generators ranging from 1000 to 3500 kilowatts in capacity. One is driven by a vertical and one by a horizontal steam turbine, one by a cross compound horizontal and one by a horizontal and vertical compound engine, this being the largest engine in the plant, having an economical rating of 5000 horse power and a maximum capacity of 8000 horse power. This system operates the incandescent lamps and motors through the grounds including those which drive the cascade pumps which are themselves a part of this plant.

The Arc Lighting Service is furnished through constant current regulators by a 60 cycle, 2000 volt system. The generators are single phase, two phase and three phase with frequencies of 50 and 60 cycles. The engines are compound, triple and quadruple expansion. The quadruple engine has six cylinders and is operated at 300 pounds of steam and at a speed of 333 revolutions per minute.

The Intramural Railway is operated with a direct current 550 volt system. All the generators are of one type and make, but the engines vary in make and include simple, tandem, and cross compound horizontal, and cross compound vertical type and one generator is driven by an impulse water wheel, the water pressure of 30 pounds per square inch being furnished by a triple expansion mining pump located adjacent to the wheel.

The Power Service in Machinery Hall is furnished from a 250 volt direct current system. The types of engines and dynamos for this service are all different and include a direct connected gas engine unit operated with gas generated by producer located in the Steam, Gas and Fuels Building.

All the large steam engines in the plant are equipped with condensing apparatus of the most modern types including both jet and surface condensers.

The entire Power Plant has a capacity of 35,000 horse power at normal rating of engines, and a total maximum capacity of over 50,000 horse power.

- Clonbrock Steam Boiler Co., Brooklyn, N. Y. 250 H. P. stationary boiler. Block 12, aisle 3, Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg. General service.
- Consolidated Engine Stop Co., New York City. Monarch engine stop on Harrisburg engine. Block 42. On Hoovens, Owens, Rentschler engine. Block 46. Springfield engine stop on Greenwald engine, Block 44.
- Connersville Blower Co., The, Connersville, Ind. Rotary pump. Block 36, aisle 7. In service with Alberger condenser on Allis-Chalmers Co. engine.
- Cookson, T. J., Cincinnati, O. Steam traps. On boiler steam headers in Steam Tunnel, and on Alberger condenser. Blocks 36, aisle E.
- Crosby Steam Gauge & Valve Co., Boston, Mass. Recording vacuum gauges. Service: On condensers throughout Power Plant. Recording pressure gauge on air system. Block 27, aisle 5.
- Crocker-Wheeler Co., Ampere, N. J. 600 K. W. D. C. generator on 600 H. P. Lane & Bodley steam engine. Block 42, aisles E and 8; 500 K. W. on 800 H. P. Murray Iron Works Co. steam engine. Block 42, aisle G; 400 K. W. generator on 600 H. P. Harrisburg Foundry & Machine Works steam engine. Block 42, aisle 8; 100 K. W. generator on 100 B. H. P. Abner Doble water wheel, Block 42, aisles G and 7; two 500 K. W. generator on Brown-
- Corliss 750 H. P. engines; 900 K. W. generator on 1400 H. P. Buckeye Engine Co. steam engine. Block 45, aisles G and 9; multi-voltage balance set. Block 42.
- Crane Company, Chicago, Ill. Valves and fittings in connection with Willam engine (Bradley Mfg. Co.) Block 52, aisles G, H and 11.
- Dearborn Drug & Chemical Works, St. Louis, Mo. Apparatus and chemical treating feedwater from Warren pump (Warren Steam Pump Co.) to Cahall boilers. Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg. Block 2.
- Deming Co., The, Salem, O. Pump service: Drain 36-inch Triumph oil separator Allis-Chalmers engine. Block 36, aisle 7.
- Direct Separator Co., The, Syracuse, N. Y. Steam and oil separators in service on Willams engine (Bradley Mfg. Co.) Block 52, aisles G, H and 11.
- Doble, Abner, Co., San Francisco, Cal. Tangential water wheel, direct connected to 100 K. W. generator. Block 4, aisles G and 7. Service: Intramura Railway system.
- Dunham, C. A., Co., Marshalltown, Ia. Steam traps. Service: In connection with Buckeye engine (Buckeye Engine Co.) Block 45, and Brown-Corliss Co. engine, Block 45.
- Duesseldorf-Ratinger-Rohrenkesselfabri (Vorm. Duerr & Co.), Ratingen 1 Duesseldorf, Germany. Marine tubular boiler. Block 5, aisle 1. Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg.
- Eyermann, Peter, St. Louis, Mo. Boiler furnace smoke preventing device on Belleville and Nielauss boiler. Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg. Block 6.
- Elsaessische Maschinenbau-Gesellschaft, Muelhausen, Germany. 1000 H. P. steam engine direct connected to 750 K. W. Societe Alsacienne de Constructions Mecaniques, Belfort generator. Block 52, aisle G. Service: Arc lighting.
- Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Chicago, Ill. Scales for use in connection with engine and boiler tests.
- Famous Filter Co., St. Louis, Mo. Oil filtering plant. Block 44. Service: Filter oil for Power Plant.
- Fisher Governor Co., The, Marshalltown, Ia. Fire pump pressure regulators on Worthington pumps. Block 9, Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg., and pressure regulator on Jeanesville pump, Block 42, aisle 7.

- lower, Walter L. & Co., St. Louis, Mo. Oil filter. In service in Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg. Block 1, and Cascade Pump Room.
- t. Wayne Electric Works, Ft. Wayne, Ind. 400 K. W. D. C. generator, direct connected to 600 H. P. 1. & E. Greenwald Co. steam engine. Block 44. Service: Elevators, storage batteries and arc lights.
- owler, John, & Co., Ltd., Leeds, England. Road locomotives and traction engines. Block 29, aisles A and B. Crane service in Machinery Hall.
- ardner Governor Co., The, Quincy, Ill. Vertical steam separator and exhaust head. Block 33, aisle 6. Service: With Laidlaw-Dunn-Gordon air compressors.
- eneral Electric Co., Schnectady, N. Y. 3000 H. P. Curtis turbine, and 2000 K. W. A. C. generator, direct connected. Block 44, aisles 10, E and G. Service: General pumping, motor and lighting service.
- oetze, Friedrich, Burscheid bei Coeln a. Rh. Corrugated nickle copper packing rings with Asbestos-Graphite linings. Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg., and Block 10, aisles H and 3, Machinery Hall. Service: In connection with steam and exhaust lines of boiler feed pumps and induced draft apparatus.
- oulds Mfg. Co., The, Seneca Falls, N. Y. Boiler feed pump. Steam, Gas and Fuels Bldg., Block 2, aisle 1.

INTRODUCTION.

INSTALLATION PLAN OF EXHIBITS IN THE PALACE OF ELECTRICITY.

BY W. E. GOLDSBOROUGH, CHIEF.

THE Palace of Electricity occupies a central position on the Exposition grounds. It is a fine exhibit structure, pentagonal in shape, and surrounds a spacious court. Its east front borders on the Grand Basin, and from its southern exposure the Terrace of States and the Cascades are in full view.

The exhibits within this palace cover all of the modern applications of electricity, and each department of education, science and industry, associated with electricity, is represented in about equal measure.

The retrospective exhibit is confined very largely to the fine demonstration made in honor of Thomas Alva Edison, in Blocks 26 and 27. This exhibit is arranged in honor of Mr. Edison on account of the fact that 1904 is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the commercial perfection of the incandescent lamp, the agent which has been used so effectively in beautifying the Exposition.

The exhibits which show the commercial development of electricity effectively, in that they represent its adaptation in industry, are located in the west end of the Palace of Machinery and in the west section of the Palace of Electricity. In the Palace of Machinery, large direct connected operating units ranging in capacity up to 3500 K. W., and of wide variety, are connected with auxiliary exciting and switchboard appliances, as a part of the exhibitors' service power plant, and present very imposing and animated pictures.

In the Palace of Electricity many exhibits in Blocks 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 14, 15, 16, and 17, show to what perfection electrical appliances have been brought in adapting electric power to the requirements of almost every branch of industry, enabling operations involving the use of large amounts of power to be performed with greater certainty, greater regularity and greater delicacy of action than have ever before been possible.

In the southwest section of the building will be found the principal exhibits illustrating the use of the storage battery in connection with lighting plants, railways, telephone exchanges and other uses. All of these exhibits are working exhibits, by which is meant that the machinery is in operation, bringing its adaptability to the work in hand vividly to the mind by actual demonstrations.

The application of electricity to railways has not been overlooked, and in both the northwest and southeast quarters of the building will be found fine demonstrations of the most modern apparatus. In addition, an extensive series of equipments are in operation on the experimental test tracks, which lie north of the Palace of Transportation, under the supervision of the Department of Electricity. Near the west end of the Palace of Forestry, Fish and Game is a comprehensive installation, showing applications of electric track signalling and controlling apparatus, installed by the German Government as a part of its electrical display.

The use of electricity in lighting is also shown in the exhibits in the northwest and southeast sections of the building. There are a number of unique devices displayed showing the perfection to which the art of decorative and useful lighting has been brought through the agency of electricity.

In the eastern end of the French exhibit in Section 38, is a particularly fine arrangement of electric fixtures. These are new and possess high artistic merit, and will undoubtedly attract a great deal of attention.

Instruments of precision for making electrical measurements are shown in exhibits located in the southeast quarter of the building. Notable among these is the model electrical testing laboratory which has been installed by the National Bureau of Standards. The laboratory probably contains one of the finest equipments of electrical scientific apparatus that has ever been brought together.

In the eastern half of Section 7, where the electrical exhibit of Great Britain is located, and in the eastern half of Section 18, in which the Italian exhibit is located, are displayed a large and very fine assortment of instruments by European manufacturers. These exhibits are supplemented by a fine display of electrical instruments of German manufacture, arranged in the Palace of Education.

In the south and southeast sections are the principal exhibits illustrating the use of electricity in the transmission of intelligence. There are two elaborate working exhibits, showing the development in the art of telephony, and a number of other working exhibits demonstrating automatic control and other specialties in this field; one of the most important of these illustrates the use of the telephone as an aid in enabling the deaf to hear, and in teaching the dumb to speak. In this section of the building are also some of the principal wireless telegraph and wireless telephone exhibits. The largest of the wireless telegraph stations in the Palace of Electricity consists of three towers standing 75 feet in the clear, within the building. The height of these towers gives a very good idea of the fine proportions of this exhibit palace.

Outside of the Electricity Building there are two wireless telegraph stations. One of these consists of a tower 300 feet high, erected near the Press Building, north of the Palace of Liberal Arts. The other station consists of a mast 225 feet high, erected on the hill south of the Japanese Building and southeast of the Ferris Wheel.

The exhibits of wireless telephony are also of special interest to the public, as they bring very vividly before the observer the wonderful advance that is now being made in this department of scientific attainment.

The other advances which have been made in a scientific way are brought out most pointedly in the exhibits in the southeast and north central sections of the building.

The scientific application of electricity to medicine is shown by the exhibits in the eastern part of Section 4, where all the modern developments for the treatment of diseases by the aid and use of electricity are presented.

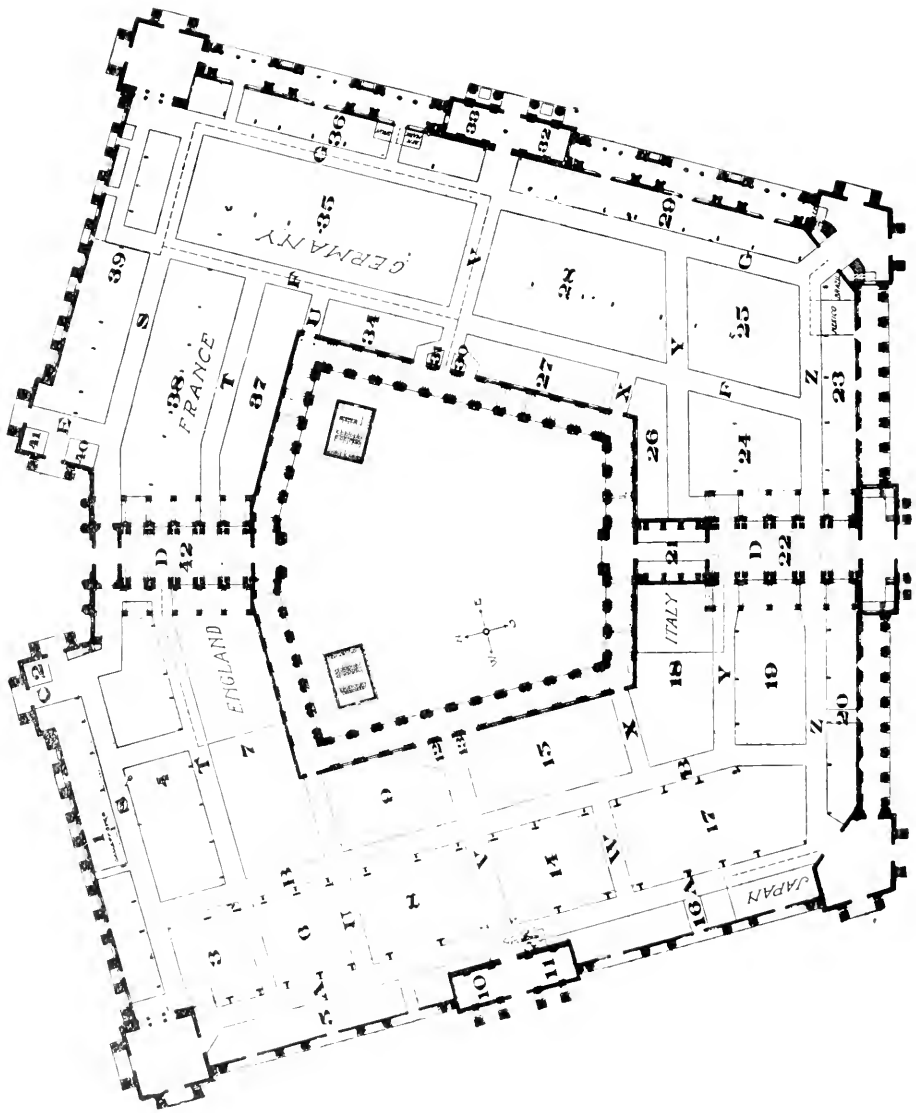

The advance in chemistry, to which electro-chemistry has contributed so marked and extensive a part, especially within the last few years, is brought out in a very striking way in the exhibit of Germany in Section 35. This is probably to the electro-chemical engineers, the most interesting exhibit in the Palace of Electricity.

Although in this brief statement many fine installations have not been mentioned, an idea is given of the extensive and comprehensive character of the presentation of electricity.

PLAN OF PALACE OF ELECTRICITY SHOWING LOCATION OF EXHIBITS.

How to Find an Exhibitor.

The Palace of Electricity, a ground plan of which accompanies this catalogue, is arranged in blocks, with aisles, like the squares and streets of a well-planned city. Aisles are lettered and numbered. Blocks are numbered, and over each block is suspended a large sign which indicates the number of the block beneath. In every case the location of the Domestic exhibitor by block and aisle is given. The locations of foreign exhibit sections are given on the ground plan.

OFFICIAL CLASSIFICATION OF EXHIBITS.

GROUP 67.

MACHINES FOR GENERATING AND USING ELECTRICITY.

- Class 428. Apparatus for generating electricity; dynamos producing direct, simple, alternating or multiphase currents.
- Class 429. Motors for direct or alternating currents.
- Class 430. Modification of currents. Motor-generators. Rotary converters. Transformers.
- Class 431. Application to transportation; electric motors for railways and roadways. Methods of control of cars and trains.
- Class 432. Application to mechanical purposes; elevators, winches, cranes, capstans, transfer tables, printing presses, machine tools, traveling cranes, fans.
- Class 433. Appliances and methods for the distribution of electric energy; conduits, cables, bonds, tools, wires, switches, insulators, insulating materials, lightning arresters, circuit breakers, rheostats, and complete switchboards, etc.

GROUP 68.

ELECTRO-CHEMISTRY.

- Class 434. Primary batteries. Accumulators.
- Class 435. Electrolytic appliances and processes. Reduction of ores. Electroplating. Electrotyping.
- Class 436. Electro-thermic appliances and processes. Production and refining of metals or alloys.
- Class 437. Application to industrial chemistry; bleaching; disinfection of sewerage water; manufacture of soda, chlorine, chlorate of potash, etc.

GROUP 69.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

- Class 438. Use of continuous or alternating currents. Arc lamps. Regulators. Carbons for lamps. Incandescent lamps. Other forms of lamps.
- Class 439. Complete installations. Factories, public buildings, dwelling houses, central stations, etc.
- Class 440. Application to lighthouses, navigation, military service, public works, etc.
- Class 441. Photometry. Apparatus for determining the intensity, the distribution and illuminating power of light.
- Class 442. Electric appliances. Apparatus for safety and regulation; conduits, junction boxes, switches, lamp cords and interior wires, cabinets, cut-outs, time and automatic devices, sockets, fixtures, etc.

GROUP 70.

TELEGRAPHY AND TELEPHONY.

- Class 443. Telegraphic instruments, transmitters and receivers. Recording apparatus, multiplex apparatus, synchronous apparatus, wireless apparatus, electrographs, etc.
- Class 444. Telephones, transmitting and receiving apparatus, instruments, switchboards, ringing generators, pole changers, etc., and complete exchanges.
- Class 445. Telegraph and telephone wires and cables. Overhead, subterranean and submarine construction; materials and appliances.

GROUP 71.

VARIOUS APPLICATIONS OF ELECTRICITY.

- Class 446. Scientific apparatus, induction coils, static machines, X-ray apparatus, galvanometers, measuring apparatus, etc. Laboratory standards. Indicators and recording apparatus for natural phenomena.
- Class 447. Electricity as applied in therapeutics, surgery and dentistry.
- Class 448. Electrical signals. Application of electricity to railways, mines, public works and buildings. Thermostats, clocks, annunciators, chronographs, alarms. Electric sign mechanism, etc.
- Class 449. Methods of measurement. Instruments; indicating, recording and integrating.
- Class 450. Apparatus for heating by electricity. Cooking apparatus, furnaces, high temperature ovens. Electric welding.
- Class 451. Progress and development in electrical science and invention. Historical and statistical exhibits. Instruments, machines, models, drawings and publications.

| 68. | Dresser, S. R., Bradford, Pa. Insulating couplings, sleeves, tees, crosses, ells, etc., to prevent electrolysis. Court. | 14. | General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Dynamos, motors, motor generators, transformers, rotary converters, electric motors for railways and roadways, methods of control of cars and trains, applications and methods for distribution of electric energy. Working exhibit. Block 28, Aisles F, G, V and Y. (Turbo-generator set and switchboard installed in Palace of Machinery, Block 44, Aisles 10, E and G.) Operating electric car equipment, electric railway test track. |
| 212. | Edison Mfg., Co., Orange, N. J. Electric battery fans. Block 27, Aisle E. | 149. | Gest, G. M., Cincinnati, O. Conduit system for underground wires. Court. |
| 28. | Electric Controller & Supply Co., Cleveland, O. Controllers for all services; magnetic reversing clutches, magnetic friction and stop brakes, switches, crane fittings, solenoids, resistance units and lifting magnets. Block 5, Aisle A. | 215. | Goldsborough, W. E., Lafayette, Ind. Electro-dynamometer. Working exhibit. Block 25, Aisle Z. |
| This company acts as consulting engineer and manufactures the above mentioned devices. Especial attention is directed to the exhibit of rapid reversing motor, metal plauer drive, lifting magnet, magnetic friction brake and cushion type solenoid, all of which may be seen under working conditions. | | 42. | Gould Storage Battery Co., Depew, N. Y. Booster systems, storage battery installations. Working exhibit. Block 16, Aisle A. |
| 127. | Electric Railway Equipment Co., Cincinnati, O. Electric railway overhead material, poles and insulators. Block 8, Aisle B. Boulevard trolley pole construction on electric railway test track. | 138. | Hunt, C. W., Co., West New Brighton, New York. Electric storage battery locomotives for industrial railways; electric control for hoists. Working exhibit. Court. Block 6, Aisle A. |
| 43. | Electric Storage Battery Co., Philadelphia, Pa. Boosters and switchboards for controlling and regulating storage batteries. Block 20, Aisle Z. | 205. | India Rubber and Gutta Percha Insulating Co., Yonkers, N. Y. Wires and lead-covered cables. Block 17, Center. |
| 213. | Electros Co., Brooklyn, N. Y. Railway overhead material. Block 17, center. | 29. | Jandus Electric Co., Cleveland, O. Electric fans. Working exhibit. Block 14, Aisle W. |
| 88. | Eureka Tempered Copper Works, North East, Pa. Copper and brass products. Block 10, Aisle Y. | 98. | Kaestner, Charles, & Co., Chicago, Ill. Electric control for elevator. Working exhibit. Block 1, Center. |
| 257. | Fairbanks, Morse & Co., Chicago, Ill. Motors and dynamos for direct current, motor generators. Working exhibit. (Installed in Palace of Machinery, Blocks 34 and 43, Aisles B, E, 8 and 10.) | 20. | Kester Electric Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill. Solder, soldering salts and paste. Block 39, Aisle S. |
| 48. | Field, C. J., New York City, N. Y. Glazed clay conduits. Court. | 202. | Keystone Electric Co., Erie, Pa. Direct current generators and motors. Working exhibit. Block 10, Aisle V. (Generator installed in Palace of Agriculture, Block 54.) |
| 23. | Fort Wayne Electric Works, Fort Wayne, Ind. Generators and motors for direct and alternating current. Working exhibit. Block 9, Aisles B and C. (Generator and switchboard installed in Palace of Machinery, Block 44, Aisle 8.) | 26. | Lincoln Electric Co., Cleveland, O. Dynamos, motor generators and electric brakes, etc. Working exhibit. Block 2, Aisle C. |
| 21. | Gardner Electric Drill & Machinery Co., Cleveland, O. Electric rock drill. Working exhibit. Block 8, Center. | 132. | Locke Insulator Mfg. Co., Victor, N. Y. High voltage transmission line insulations, porcelain and glass. Block 8, Center. |
